1 Translation Guidelines

2 To meet the needs of our youth, youth leaders, and those needing to use our resources, we are 3 offering opportunities to translate from English into other languages. Below are some guidelines to 4 help you produce culturally appropriate translations.

- 5 1. Be objective.
- 6 2. Please be faithful and accurate to the source text.
- 7 3. Translate for meaning (rather than word-for-word), in a culturally sensitive way.
8 Translation should preserve the content and meaning of the original text, with cultural 9 and linguistic adaptations as needed, so that the translated text sounds natural and is 10 easy for the intended readers to understand and use.
- 11 4. Do not do literal, word-for-word translation; this can be confusing or misleading.
12 Consider the differences in linguistic structure and complex connections between 13 culture and language.
- 14 5. Be culturally sensitive. Cultural adaptation may be needed where necessary.
- 15 6. Reproduce the precise contextual meaning of the text and message at all times without 16 omission or distortion. Do not soften, strengthen or alter the messages being conveyed.
- 17 7. Do not alter, change, add, or omit texts. Only alter a text with the consent of the GC 18 Youth Ministries Department.
- 19 8. All pronouns used for God or Jesus should be capitalized. (E.g. “God Himself is the 20 author and finisher of our faith. He is the beginning, He is the ending.)
- 21 9. Do not add to what is written or said, nor provide unsolicited explanation, comments, 22 or make recommendations.
- 23 10. Do not show bias towards the intended readers of the translated document.
- 24 11. Do not do literal (word-for-word) translation of Bible verses. Use a Bible translation
25 (version) that is closest to the one used in the original source document, and make sure 26 to cite (or reference) it.
- 27 12. Do not do literal (word-for-word) translation of Spirit of Prophecy quotations. Take the 28 quote directly from the translated Spirit of Prophecy books referenced in the original

1 document. When citing translated work, please remember to change the page number 2 to the one in the book (in the language you are translating to).

About the writers:

Kleyton Feitosa

Kleyton, a native of Brazil, is passionate about cross-cultural ministry and has served in Brazil, the U.S., Egypt, and Sudan. Fluent in Portuguese, English, Spanish, and some Arabic, he enjoys ministering to diverse communities. His experience includes roles as a teacher, chaplain, youth pastor, associate pastor, senior pastor, Conference Executive Secretary, and Mission President. Kleyton holds a Bachelor's in Theology from the Latin American Theological Seminary and a Master's in Missions and a Doctorate in Evangelism and Church Growth from Andrews University. He currently serves as the director of the Global Mission Centers at the General Conference.

Khamsay Phetchareun

Dr. Khamsay Phetchareun is an ordained minister, administrator, and fundraiser, currently serving as the Global Mission Director of the Center for Adventist-Buddhist Relations (CABR) at the General Conference. His pastoral experience includes roles in Australia from 1987 to 1998, and he served as Associate Director of ADRA Myanmar (1998–2000). Dr. Phetchareun also taught Religion at Asia-Pacific International University (2001–2007, 2011–present) and served as Advisor for the Laos Attached Region until 2021. Appointed Global Mission Director in September 2022, he holds degrees from Avondale College and Andrews University, including a Doctor of Ministry (2005).

Cliff Shameerudeen

Dr. Cliff Shameerudeen is currently the director for the Center for South Asian Religions of the General Conference. He is a church planter, who spends his time empowering, coaching and supporting church planters globally.

Jonathan Contero

Hi, I'm Jonathan! I'm a passionate follower of Jesus, a husband, and a proud dad of two amazing kids. I've been involved in church planting in Madrid, working on a project designed to connect with secular audiences, and I'm now serving as a missionary in Geneva, Switzerland, exploring ways to reconnect a post-Christian society with God. I'm also passionate about football, music, reading, spending time with people, and discovering new cultures and cuisines!

Reinaldo Siqueira

Reinaldo Siqueira has served as dean of the School of Theology at Brazil Adventist University since 2016, where he taught Old Testament languages, theology, and exegesis. Previously, he was dean of the Latin American Theological Seminary and director of Adventist-Jewish relations for the Brazilian Central Union. Siqueira holds a doctorate in Old Testament studies from Andrews University, as well as a master's and bachelor's in theology from Adventist University of France. He is fluent in Portuguese, Spanish, English, and French, with advanced knowledge of Hebrew. He has also been named the Seventh-day Adventist Church's chief liaison to the Jewish community.

1 Petras Bahadur

2 Dr. Petras Bahadur serves as the Director of the Global Center for Adventist-Muslim Relations at 3 the Headquarters of the General Conference of Seventh-day Adventists. He served 21 years as a
4 Treasurer, lecturer and Head of the department of Business, and then served 21 years as a
5 Missiologist in the area of Muslim ministry. He trains professionals on building bridges of 6 understanding through the seven books he has authored on understanding the worldviews of 7 people from Muslim background.

8 Brendan Pratt

9 Dr Brendan Pratt is the director of the Centre for Secular Post-Christian Mission. He lives in 10 Melbourne Australia. Brendan is married to Amanda, an author, and is dad to Brad, Ben and 11 James – along with a bunch of snakes, lizards, turtles and frogs. His PhD research explores how 12 consumerism impacts faith. Brendan is passionate about what it looks like for the church to be a

15 Bledi Leno

16 Bledi Leno is the Director of the Center for Urban Mission at the General Conference, with a 17 passion for connecting people with God in urban settings. His ministry has taken him from 18 Albania to England, Brazil, the U.S., and around the world, broadening his international 19 perspective. Based in New York City, Bledi has focused on urban ministry, establishing centers 20 of influence, and leading church planting and revitalization initiatives. He is committed to 21 creative outreach and evangelism. Bledi is married to Gabriela, and they have two sons, Matthias
22 and Arthur.

2 Planning for the Week of Prayer

- 3
- 4 1. Start Your Planning Now: Start your planning, develop your target, get your team
5 together, and make sure your pastor is a part of that team.
- 6 2. Global Youth Day Information: Get information on the Global Youth Day project. This 7 day will be the launch of the Youth Week of Prayer. Please visit our website, 8 gcyouthministries.org, or contact your local youth director to find out how you can 9 participate.
- 10 3. Commit Your Prayer Warriors: Get a team of adults together who will commit to 11 praying for you and your ministry on a regular basis. Make sure this is a group with whom 12 you can confidentially share both your personal and ministry prayer needs.
- 13 4. Choose a Theme Song: Involve your youth choir/praise team. Pick out songs that you all 14 like and which fit the topic of each evening or choose a song for the entire week.
- 15 5. Form a Week of Prayer Development: Include on your team only interested and 16 committed young adults and youth ministry leaders (Pathfinder, Sabbath School, etc., your 17 pastor/s); this is important because it gives ownership to the entire group, rather than just 18 you and your assistant. Ask the group to commit to meeting for at least three weeks—at 19 least one week for four lessons, and an extra week to wrap things up. Be sure to identify 20 the goal and direction you want to go, preferably at the first meeting, and choose a young 21 person to speak for each day.
- 22 6. Day of Fasting: Pick a day during the week to dedicating to fasting. As a team identify the 23 areas in which you will be petitioning to God for a breakthrough.

When a mosquito does what it does best, irritating and sucking our blood, we forget that it is a tiny little creature. Its impact on us is not measured by size but by what it can do. Only one mosquito can keep you awake at night.

The 2025 week of prayer theme is ACT: “A Community Transformed.” The focus is on reaching the challenging territories of this world, the 10/40 window, with the word of God. It is estimated that, out of the eight billion people in this world, Christianity has over three billion followers. The rest of the world subscribes to other religions.

Christian denominations must respond positively to the biblical mandate, “Therefore go and make disciples of all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit, and teaching them to obey everything I have commanded you. And surely I am with you always, to the very end of the age.” (Matthew 28:19-20, NIV).

Seventh-day Adventists have an urgent and solemn duty to share the three angels’ messages of Revelation 14:6-12 with the world. All people groups should hear this message and make their choice. That’s what you are called upon to ponder and respond to during this week of prayer.

God created and chose you to bring about change in your community. Prayerfully identify communities that have not heard the end-time gospel message. When we faithfully adhere to the call to share God’s Word with others, “Communities will be Transformed.” The book of ACTS must be relived in our time.

You are much bigger and more intelligent than a mosquito because you were created in God’s image.

Therefore, go out there and be an influencer for Jesus!

Bridging the Gap

Jesus never once forced anyone to become a Christian. He simply laid out a powerful two-word invitation: “Follow Me.” And a three-word question, “Will you go?” This is very important to remember because if some of our non-Christian, familiar, friends, and associates are to be saved we must realize that if they decline your invitation to attend church, it is not the “end of the world.” There are many other ways to invite someone to experience Jesus besides attending church. And one of the most powerful opportunity is when we invite them to discover God’s heart for the poor, oppressed, and disadvantaged, yes, invite them to participate in your Global Youth Day projects. Invite them to be a Jesus-follower with you.

This year’s Week of Prayer readings aims to help describe six very different spiritual viewpoints, and then ask which portrait one best describes your friends, co-workers, family, or the neighbors who do not know Jesus?

From the mystical Tibetan Buddhist living in the east to the secular consumer in the west—and everyone in-between, we see that people are way too complex to put into boxes. Weaved throughout these readings is the reminder that we are called to build and maintain strong relationships, built on trust and mutual respect. Also provided are little golden nuggets to guide us in understanding a little about the commonalities among us, as they give opportunities and chances—that with the right approach—can be cultivated into encounters and experiences for Jesus that will help them bridge the gap between their current situation and a vibrant relationship with Him.

Yes, God loves and saves Buddhists, Hindus, Post-Christian Secularists, Consumerists, Jews, and Muslims the same way that he loves and saves everyone else—through the miracle of a new birth. It is not us and our great arguments—we can never win someone to Christ by arguing, we cannot argue them into salvation. We have not been called to convert people but to plant the gospel seed. Only God can do the saving! But still, Yet we are called to build and maintain strong relationships, built on trust and mutual respect.

So, once again we are encouraging you to pray, along with us, that God will open their eyes and hearts to the truth of the gospel, and that our families, friends, co-workers, and neighbors will have the courage to embrace Christ as Lord and Savior.

Making Global Youth Day A Lifestyle

A Five Month Plan

From its inception in 2013, Global Youth Day (GYD) had these core aspects: salvation, discipleship, and mission involvement. We are still committed to that vision and hope that all the youth and young adults who participate in this outreach will realize that Global Youth Day is not just about what they are doing but also why they do what they do. Yearly, we are bringing a fresh approach to make Global Youth Day a more mission-focused outreach initiative for young people.

A Five-Month Plan for a Successful GYD

November (Preparation: Prayer and Planning)

1. Unions and Conferences should help churches identify projects aligned with the year's GYD theme.
2. These projects should not be far from most of the youth.
3. The choice and nature of the project will determine a suitable approach.
4. Do area studies to appreciate the size and the scope of the projects.
5. Where possible, divide the youth into small groups of six for effectiveness. But, the nature of the project will determine the size of the group.
6. At the local church level, assign someone to create a list of all the young people who have been missing from church or are coming but are unengaged. Begin calling the missing/inactive young people and invite them to participate in your upcoming projects. Also, begin inviting them to Bible Studies. Visit our website for more tips on doing this.
7. Assign leaders for the small groups: group leader, secretary (to compile reports), spiritual coordinator, media coordinator (permission should be obtained before publishing or sharing any photos and videos), and project coordinator.
8. Youth leaders should share their vision with community authorities to seek permission to do service projects.
9. Churches are encouraged to designate the last Sabbath of November as the day of prayer for the service projects. Dedicate all community projects to the Lord in prayer.

December (Implementation)

1. Young people go out into their communities every Sabbath or Sunday (depending on the project) to participate in projects.
2. After conducting projects, the youth should share weekly testimonies or reports with the church.
3. The secretaries of the small groups should compile records of the people they serve (personal information, with their permission).

- 1 4. December to January is a long school break in some parts of the world. We suggest that
2 the third week of December be dedicated to recruiting young people to participate in Caleb
3 Mission¹ (a project where youth utilize their vacation time to do community projects and 4 evangelistic programs).
- 5 5. The last part of December is usually the time when families spend time together². We 6 recommend that the youth give special consideration to the lonely, the bereaved, the 7 depressed, the sick, the disabled, the homeless, and the needy³.

8 January (Spiritual and Mission Focus)

- 9 1. The global church's Ten Days of Prayer occur every January.⁴ Visit our website to 10 download the 10-day Prayer and Devotional book.
- 11 2. We encourage the youth to pray for themselves and various projects they are doing.
- 12 3. Dedicate January to implement spiritual and evangelistic projects in preparation for 13 Global Youth Day, Week of Prayer, and Homecoming Day. Evangelistic ideas for youth 14 include Bible studies, outreach seminars, evangelistic campaigns (Voice of Youth),⁵ and 15 recruiting young people to participate in One Year in Mission (OYiM).⁶
- 16 4. By January 31 Conference and Union should receive GYD reports of the project 17 process/work done.

18 February (Follow-Up)

- 19 1. February is the month to revisit those we have been serving over the past months.
- 20 2. Those who delayed in doing their service projects can use this month to engage in intensive 21 community work.
- 22 3. The unions and conferences should send their reports to the divisions.

23

24 March (Celebration month)

- 25 1. GYD is usually on the third Sabbath in March. Visit our website to see the GYD theme 26 and resources.⁷
- 27 2. In the first two weeks of March, we encourage churches to celebrate with the youth what 28 God has accomplished through them.
- 29 3. Invite those we have been visiting and providing services to come to church.

⁷ Visit: <https://www.gcyouthministries.org/events-and-projects/global-youth-day-gyd/> GYD promo materials were sent out to the divisions.

- 1 4. On GYD, churches may visit communities in the morning and come back to the church to 2 give reports of their visits.
- 3 5. On GYD, the GC will be showcasing to the world what young people have been doing 4 for Jesus.
- 5 6. GYD is the precursor to the global Youth Week of Prayer. Visit our website to get the 6 resources for the week of prayer.⁸
- 7 7. Homecoming Sabbath: baptisms of young people who made this decision because of the 8 direct efforts of their fellow youths.

10 Conclusion

11 Christ's method was about taking care of the needs of the people and calling them to follow Him. Let us
12 not be ashamed to call people to follow Jesus!

8 Beyond Our Borders: The Global Call of Christian Mission

9 Today, I invite you to embark on a journey, not just through the Scriptures, but through our hearts and 10 across the borders of our own limitations and fears. Here we are, in the comforting fields of Galilee, 11 where Jesus began His ministry—a place not unlike our own familiar spiritual territories. Yet, the heart of 12 our message today calls us to venture far beyond, into realms that are less comfortable, yet ripe with 13 potential for harvest.

14 Jesus is INTENTIONAL:

15 In the gospel according to Mark 4:35, we find a stirring directive from Christ. He says to His disciples:
16 “...Let us go over to the other side.” That is, the other side of the lake.

17 Jesus is making a very bold move to take His disciples across the Sea of Galilee to the “Other Side” into 18 pagan territory. Into an area where they indulged in and participated into all kinds of sins. But for Jesus, 19 He knew exactly where he was going. This was not just a random decision.

20 This isn’t merely a physical crossing from Galilee to Decapolis across the Sea of Galilee; it’s a spiritual 21 summons to cross over into areas of life and spirit that are uncharted by us. The Decapolis, a network of 22 ten cities, was notorious not only for its allegiance to Rome but for its deep-seated pagan practices—a
23 land diametrically opposed to the Jewish moral and spiritual landscape. Here, on the other side, temples 24 stood that celebrated wealth, violence, and hedonistic deities, presenting a profound challenge to the 25 messages of humility, peace, and self-control preached by Jesus. Rabbinic tradition in Jesus’ day said that 26 Decapolis is where the seven nations of Canaan settled down. They featured cults that promoted 27 sexuality, violence, and wealth. It was everything that Israel was not.

28 Decapolis was also a center for Roman power, 6,000 soldiers were stationed at the “Other Side”. The 29 symbol for the legion was a pig’s head—Decapolis was a place where pigs were worshipped. The Jews
30 regarded the “Other Side” as the place where Satan lived—it was dark, it was evil, and it was demonic. It

1 was the place where God is not. Nobody ever goes over to the “other side”, especially not a rabbi. Going
2 to “the other side” was way out of their comfort zone. But they agreed to go.

3 And, Jesus knew exactly where He was going!

4 Venturing into the Unknown:

5 As they set sail, the disciples were not just navigating the waters—they were crossing the turbulent seas
6 of their deepest fears and prejudices. Come with me for a moment, just imagine this sinful place, with no
7 dietary restrictions and all their pagan practices. I would not blame the disciples one bit if they had turned 8 the boat around and gone back home. When they arrived at the shores of Decapolis they were met not by 9 the usual crowds, but instead by desolation and two demon-possessed men, marking a stark contrast to the 10 multitudes that usually gathered around Jesus. The tangible absence of a welcoming party highlighted the 11 spiritual desolation of the region, but this is no surprise because this is “the other side.”

12 Miracle and Rejection:

13 As they arrive, the picture is disturbing:

14 Mark 5:2-5 *“And when He had come out of the boat, immediately there met Him out of the tombs a man
15 with an unclean spirit, who had his dwelling among the tombs; and no one could bind him, not even with 16 chains, because he had often been bound with shackles and chains. And the chains had been pulled apart
17 by him, and the shackles broken in pieces; neither could anyone tame him. And always, night and day, he 18 was in the mountains and in the tombs, crying out and cutting himself with stones.”*

19 This is quite a scene, but in the presence of Jesus nothing stays the same.

20 Mark 5:6-14

21 *“When he saw Jesus from afar, he ran and worshiped Him. And he cried out with a loud
22 voice and said, “What have I to do with You, Jesus, Son of the Most High God? I implore 23 You by God that You do not torment me.”*

24 For He said to him, “Come out of the man, unclean spirit!” Then He asked 25 him, “What is your name?”

26 And he answered, saying, “My name is Legion; for we are many.” Also he begged Him 27 earnestly that He would not send them out of the country.

28 *“Now a large herd of swine was feeding there near the mountains. So all the demons
29 begged Him, saying, “Send us to the swine, that we may enter them.” And at once Jesus
30 gave them permission. Then the unclean spirits went out and entered the swine (there 31 were about two thousand); and the herd ran violently down the steep place into the sea, 32 and drowned in the sea.*

1 “So those who fed the swine fled, and they told it in the city and in the country. And they
2 went out to see what it was that had happened.”

3 Fear and Rejection

4 The miracle was amazing. The man was immediately set free! The evil spirits were gone, and the man
5 restored to his right mind. Interesting to note, however that very different from the healings in Galilee,
6 upon healing the demon-possessed this time, instead of celebration, there was fear and rejection.

7 Mark 4:15-17

8 “Then they came to Jesus, and saw the one who had been demon-possessed and had the 9 legion, sitting and clothed and in his right mind. And they were afraid. And those who 10 saw it told them how it happened to him who had been demon-possessed, and about the 11 swine. Then they began to plead with Him to depart from their region.”

12 The people of Decapolis were not happy. They did not celebrate this supernatural healing. Blinded by 13 their entrenched worldviews and fears, they could not appreciate the miraculous work of Jesus. Instead of 14 joy, they reacted with fear. They didn't exclaim, "Wow, this is a man with power; this is great." They 15 didn't think, "I have a sick mother, a tormented child, a troubled friend—this man with power could help
16 them." Instead, they begged Jesus to leave. He's got power, but he's from the other side. For the people
17 living in Decapolis, somebody who is from the “other side” could hurt them. Somebody who is from the 18 “other side” is going to have an agenda. Somebody who is from the other side is going to have an attitude
19 of superiority or be judgmental or distant. They were afraid of somebody from the “other side”.

20 This reaction mirrors the resistance we often encounter when presenting the Gospel to people who are 21 unfamiliar with or hostile to the message of Christ. The fear of the unknown, the fear of transformative 22 power that challenges existing norms and powers, can often lead to rejection.

23 As Jesus was getting into the boat, the man who had been demon-possessed begged to go with him.
24 Picture this scene in your mind: The man prostrates himself before Jesus and pleads: I've been living here
25 in all this darkness all my life, and it's destroyed me. Let me leave here. I just want to be with you. I'll 26 leave everything—everyone I know, everything I have, which isn't much—but I just want to follow you."
27 He doesn't merely make this request; he begs, he cries, he is desperate. And yet, Jesus lovingly says no.
28 Mark 4:19 Jesus did not let him, but said, “Go home to your own people and tell them how much the Lord 29 has done for you, and how he has had mercy on you.”

30 Imagine that man's feelings as the boat rows away and he is not on board.

31 The Power of Testimony:

32 Yet, in this narrative, there is a beacon of hope. The man who was healed did not journey back with Jesus
33 but was instead commissioned to stay and testify among his own people. This man, once shackled by 34 demons, now freed by Christ, became the first missionary to the region of Decapolis, the ungodly region
35 on the other side of the lake. He followed Jesus' instructions and begun to witness. Now we have a

1 missionary—with first-hand knowledge of God’s miracle-working power and whose personal testimony
2 began to soften the hard soils of his homeland. Also read Luke 8:38, 39).

3 Several months pass, and one day Jesus decides to go again to the other side. This time however, the 4 atmosphere had shifted dramatically—what was once hostile territory now celebrated His presence.

5 Mathew 15:29-31

6 “Jesus departed from there, skirted the Sea of Galilee, and went up on the mountain and 7 sat down there. Then great multitudes came to Him, having with them the lame, blind,
8 mute, maimed, and many others; and they laid them down at Jesus’ feet, and He healed
9 them. So the multitude marveled when they saw the mute speaking, the maimed made
10 whole, the lame walking, and the blind seeing; and they glorified the God of Israel.”

11 They praised the God of Israel! The first time Jesus went to the “other side”, nobody was home except 12 one demon-tormented man. And everybody begged him to leave. The second time he comes, he has one 13 of the most dramatic responses to his arrival in all of the gospels. What happened? Well, one man told his 14 story. Mark 5:20 tells us that one man traveled from one town to another, from one neighborhood to 15 another, and said, “Let me tell you about this man Jesus and what he did for me.” His testimony
16 transformed entire cities. There was a way that this man could reach people on the “other side” that 17 initially, not even Jesus' disciples, nor Jesus himself, could.

18 This transformation showcases the power of personal witness—a testimony that can often penetrate and 19 reach where traditional methods cannot.

20 Call to Modern Disciples:

21 What, then, is the 'other side' for us today? It may not be a demonic land but could be a foreign country, a
22 different community, or even opposing ideological territories. Our calling is akin to that of the first 23 disciples—to bravely step out of our comfort zones and engage with those who are radically different,
24 carrying the light of Christ into dark corners of misunderstanding and prejudice. Just like the demon-
25 possessed man was changed forever, there are many who are eagerly waiting for us to share the Good 26 News with them. They are waiting for hope. Longing for love. They are waiting for you, they are waiting 27 for me to reach out to them.

28 Conclusion:

29 As we ponder on where our 'other side' might be, let us remember that Christ calls us not to comfort but to 30 courage. The global mission field is vast, and it requires us to transcend not only geographical but 31 cultural, linguistic, and ideological borders. Like the disciples and the healed man of Decapolis, we are 32 equipped with the most powerful tool—our testimony and the transformative love of Christ. Let us pray
33 and ask God for the courage and strength to go forth, bearing this light, and watch as the once-34 impenetrable walls of fear and rejection turn into gates of welcome and acceptance.

35 Prayer:

1 Dear Heavenly Father,

2 Thank you for all you do us. Thank you for convicting us to be here today. Thank you for your
3 commission to go to ALL the world and teach others about you. Give us courage and strength, give us the 4 boldness you gave the early apostles to share your world. Let us not be discouraged. We thank you for all 5 things.

6 Amen

7 Discussion Questions:

8 1. What does Jesus' intentional decision to cross over to the "other side" teach us about stepping out
9 of our comfort zones? How can we apply this lesson in our own lives when faced with engaging 10 with people or communities that are different from us, whether culturally, ideologically, or 11 spiritually?

12 2. How does the reaction of the people in Decapolis—fear and rejection of Jesus' miraculous 13 power—mirror the challenges Christians face today when sharing the Gospel in unfamiliar or 14 hostile environments?
15 In what ways can we prepare ourselves for similar rejection, and how should we respond when 16 our message is not initially welcomed?

17 3. The healed man was commissioned to testify about Jesus to his own people, and his testimony
18 transformed a region. What role does personal testimony play in evangelism, and why is it often 19 more effective than traditional methods of outreach?
20 How can we use our own personal stories of transformation to reach others in our community or 21 beyond?

3 The Unfinished Mission: Reaching Buddhists with the 4 Gospel

5 Dr. Khamsay Phetchareun

6 Focus: Buddhist Population

7 Main Text : Matthew 28:18-20

8 And Jesus came and spoke to them, saying, “All authority has been given to Me in heaven and on 9 earth. Go therefore and make disciples of all the nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father and of 10 the Son and of the Holy Spirit, teaching them to observe all things that I have commanded you; and lo, I 11 am with you always, even to the end of the age.” Amen.

12 Have you ever wondered how many Buddhists are still waiting to hear the gospel and encounter Jesus in a 13 personal way?

14 According to wikipedia.org Buddhism is “the world's fourth-largest religion, with over 520 million
15 followers, known as Buddhists, who comprise seven percent of the global population. It arose in the 16 eastern Gangetic plain as a sramana movement in the 5th century BCE, and gradually spread throughout 17 much of Asia. Buddhism has subsequently played a major role in Asian culture and spirituality, 18 eventually spreading to the West in the 20th century.” With the vast majority living in the region of the 19 world that spans Asia, Africa and Europe (referred to as 10/40 Window)—where many people are not 20 exposed to the gospel. The most conservative Buddhists reside in Southeast Asia, in countries like 21 Cambodia, Laos, Thailand, Myanmar, and Vietnam. In this region, less than 1% of Buddhists have been 22 reached or have accepted Jesus. You may find it encouraging that around 1.2% of Thailand's population
23 identifies as Christian, but would that truly satisfy you? Out of that 1.2%, only a mere 0.01% come from a
24 Buddhist background. The remainder are from animistic traditions. This represents a minuscule fraction
25 of the overall Buddhist population. Even fewer former Buddhists in Cambodia and Laos have embraced 26 the gospel. Yet, we sometimes convince ourselves that these countries have been sufficiently reached for 27 Christ. This perception is a form of self-deception, allowing us to justify our inaction in going to these 28 nations for the sake of the gospel.

29 Buddhism is divided into three major branches: Hinayana (or Theravada), Mahayana, and Vajrayana.
30 Theravada, the more conservative branch, is prevalent in Southeast Asia. Mahayana, the more liberal 31 branch, is found in countries like China, Korea, Japan, Hong Kong, Taiwan, and Vietnam. Much like their 32 Theravada counterparts, very few Mahayana Buddhists have come to know Jesus as their Savior. This 33 means the work of sharing the gospel with Buddhists remains vast and largely undone. Vajrayana, often 34 referred to as Tibetan Buddhism, is the third branch. This mystical form of Buddhism is found in

1 restricted nations such as Tibet, Bhutan, Nepal, Mongolia, and parts of Russia, where evangelism is often
2 illegal, making it even more challenging to reach these Buddhists with the gospel.

3 When we consider all three branches of Buddhism, the scope of the challenge becomes clear: the 4 Buddhist world remains largely unreached. In fact, there are more Christians converting to Buddhism than 5 there are Buddhists converting to Christianity. Even in countries traditionally associated with Christianity,
6 like Australia, the United Kingdom, and the United States, Buddhism is one of the fastest-growing 7 religions.

8 This reality calls us to action. We cannot ignore the spiritual needs of the Buddhist world any longer. The 9 harvest is plentiful, but the laborers are few.

10 Jesus' Command:

11 “So you must go to people in every country of the world. Teach them how to become my 12 disciples. Baptize them by the authority of God the Father, His Son, and the Holy Spirit.”
13 (Matthew 28:19, EASY)

14 This includes the many Buddhists who have yet to hear the gospel in a meaningful way. The Lord need
15 young adults, like you, to share His love with them.

16 When Jesus said, "You must go," He wasn't calling us to travel for leisure, but for the mission of 17 spreading the gospel. Thailand, one of the most visited countries in Asia, welcomed 39 million tourists in 18 2019, and it's expected to see around 35 million in 2024. Many are drawn to these Buddhist nations
19 because of the people's friendliness and hospitality. So, what is holding you back from sharing God's 20 love in these countries? If you come to these nations with a heart for mission, you will undoubtedly be 21 blessed.

22 Practical Do's and Don'ts:

23 Do's:

24 1. Be a Friend First: Buddhists are friendly people. Start by building relationships through acts of 25 kindness, like sharing a meal or offering small gifts.

26 2. Pray for Them: Offer to pray for their needs. Many Buddhists are open to prayer, and when they see 27 God answering their prayers, their hearts become open to the gospel.

28 3. Teach English:

29 In countries like Thailand and Cambodia, many young people want to learn English. You can help by 30 offering free classes, which creates opportunities to build relationships and share your faith.

31 4. Serve in Simple Ways:

1 Evangelism doesn't have to be complicated. Help meet basic needs, and people will listen when you share
2 your faith.

3 Don'ts:

4 1. Don't Criticize Their Beliefs:

5 Avoid debating or attacking Buddhist teachings. Instead, focus on sharing the love of Jesus and your 6 personal testimony.

7 2. Don't Expect Immediate Results:

8 Conversion can take time, especially in cultures with strong religious roots. Be patient and trust that God
9 is working through you.

10 3. Don't Go Alone:

11 Build a support network of fellow believers and a local church community for spiritual and emotional
12 support. Read Mark 6:7

13 Preaching the Gospel is Simple:

14 After John the Baptist was imprisoned, Jesus went into Galilee, proclaiming the Good News of God: "The 15 time has come. The kingdom of God has come near. Repent and believe the good news!" (Mark 1:14-15, 16 NIV)

17 John the Baptist was the first to preach a message of repentance, and when he was imprisoned, Jesus took 18 up that mantle, proclaiming the Good News of God's Kingdom. Before Jesus ascended to heaven, He 19 gave His disciples a clear directive: continue spreading the gospel throughout the earth.

20 "Then Jesus came to them and said, 'All authority in heaven and on earth has been given to 21 me. Therefore, go and make disciples of all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father
22 and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit, and teaching them to obey everything I have 23 commanded you. And surely, I am with you always, to the very end of the age.'" (Matthew 24 28:18-20, NIV)

25 Even in the final days of his ministry, John, the last of the disciples to remain alive, emphasized the same
26 message, reminding us to carry out Jesus' command.

27 "Then I saw another angel flying in midair, and he had the eternal gospel to proclaim to 28 those who live on the earth—to every nation, tribe, language, and people." (Revelation
29 14:6, NIV)

1 As Seventh-day Adventists, we believe that God has entrusted us, as His Remnant Church, with the 2 sacred mission of proclaiming the everlasting gospel to every nation, tribe, language, and people, calling
3 all to worship the Creator God. The mandate is clear, and the call is urgent. Let us go forth and fulfill this 4 great commission.

5 How Can the Lord Return When Only 0.01% of Buddhists Have Been Reached? Do you feel the 6 urgency to respond to Jesus' command and go to Southeast Asia to preach the gospel to Buddhists? Is 7 Matthew 28:18-20 a call for someone else, or is it meant for you? Should you wait, or is it time to 8 act?

9 Don't Repeat the Mistakes of the Past

10 In the past, your ancestors delayed building the house of the Lord, believing it wasn't the right time. Are 11 we now making the same mistake by saying it's not the right time to build the Kingdom of God among 12 Buddhists?

13 "This is what the LORD of Heaven's Armies says: The people are saying, 'The time has not 14 yet come to rebuild the house of the LORD.'" (Haggai 1:2, NLT)

15 Misplaced Priorities:

16 It's easy to understand why the Israelites delayed. They were returning refugees from Babylon, and for 17 seventy years, they had lived in exile. Most of them were not the generation that had left Judah; they were 18 their grandparents. They had no memory of their homeland and had to rebuild their lives from scratch, 19 starting with their own homes. In human terms, this seems reasonable—but not in God's eyes. For God's 20 people, putting Him first should always be the priority.

21 Jesus Himself taught us to seek God's Kingdom first. Yet, like the Israelites, we often say, "The time has 22 not yet come to rebuild the house of the Lord," which is another way of saying, "Let me build my own
23 house first, and God's house can wait."

24 What About Us?

25 What are we focused on today? Many of us are busy building our lives. This focus on education, careers,
26 marriage, and family seems natural. We work to secure a future for ourselves and our children. But are we 27 placing these things above God's Kingdom? While there is nothing wrong with education, marriage,
28 or building a family, they become wrong when they take priority over the work of God.

29 Shouldn't God understand? Yes, He knows these things are important, but He calls us to put His Kingdom
30 first. When we do, everything else will fall into place. Let us not repeat the mistake of prioritizing our 31 own lives over God's mission. The time to build the Kingdom is now.

32 What Went Wrong with the Israelites?

1 In Haggai 1, we see that the Israelites weren't just building homes out of necessity—they were seeking
2 prosperity. This is why God became upset. He had blessed them, but instead of honoring Him, they 3 focused on their own comfort and success. As a result, God "turned off the blessing tap," and the 4 consequences were clear.

5 "Why are you living in luxurious houses while my house lies in ruins?" God asked them. And then He 6 described the outcome of their misplaced priorities:

7 You have planted much but harvest little.

8 You eat but are not satisfied.

9 You drink but are still thirsty.

10 You put on clothes but cannot keep warm.

11 Your wages disappear as though you were putting them in pockets filled with holes.

12 God was showing them that despite all their efforts, they could not prosper because they had neglected
13 Him.

14 The Right Priority:

15 God then called them to action:

16 "This is what the LORD of Heaven's Armies says: Look at what's happening to you!"

17 God's instruction was simple but urgent:

18 "Go up into the hills, bring down timber, and rebuild my house. Then I will take pleasure
19 in it and be honored," says the LORD. "You hoped for rich harvests, but they were poor.
20 And when you brought your harvest home, I blew it away. Why? Because my house lies in 21 ruins, while all of you are busy building your own fine houses. It's because of you that 22 the heavens withhold the dew and the earth produces no crops. I have called for a 23 drought to ruin everything you have worked so hard to get."

24 The people's misplaced priorities had brought a drought, both physical and spiritual. God withheld His 25 blessing because they were focused on their own prosperity rather than His kingdom.

26 A Turnaround

27 But there was hope. God's message through Haggai stirred the hearts of the people:

1 • Haggai, the LORD’s messenger, brought a word of encouragement: “I am with you, says the 2 LORD!”

3 • God sparked the enthusiasm of Zerubbabel, the governor of Judah, and Jeshua, the high priest, as 4 well as the enthusiasm of the whole remnant of God’s people.

5 They began rebuilding the house of God on September 21, in the second year of King Darius's
6 reign. (Note: the 21st day of the seventh month in the Hebrew calendar typically falls between 7 late September and October, though it doesn’t align exactly with September 21st each year.)

8 This marked a turning point. When the people shifted their focus back to God’s priorities, He renewed
9 His blessing. It was a reminder that true prosperity comes only when God is placed first.

10 Working on the House of God

11 God often compares His church to His family or His house:

12 “But if I am delayed, I write so that you may know how you ought to conduct yourself in 13 the house of God, which is the church of the living God, the pillar and ground of the 14 truth.” (1 Timothy 3:15)

15 He desires His church to be holy and without blemish:

16 “That He might present her to Himself a glorious church, not having spot or wrinkle or 17 any such thing, but that she should be holy and without blemish.” (Ephesians 5:27)

18 Building God’s house means engaging in mission work. Jesus called fishermen to become fishers of men:

19 “Follow me, and I will make you fish for people.” (Matthew 4:19, NRSV)

20 What Does This Mean for Us?

21 Fishing requires preparation. Here are some lessons we can learn from it:

22 1. Fish never come to us.

23 They don’t jump into our boats or cooking pots—we have to go to where they are. Likewise,
24 Buddhists won’t come to us; we must go to them.

25 2. Catching different fish requires different tools and approaches.

26 Just as each type of fish requires specific bait, reaching different people requires different 27 methods. If you go to a hospital, you’ll find the sick—health evangelism will resonate with them.
28 If you go to rural areas, you’ll find farmers and the poor—living among them and helping

1 improve their lives opens doors for meaningful witness. If you go to schools, you'll find children
2 and young people—if you are young yourself, you can connect with them more easily.

3 This is an urgent need. Many of our churches in the 10/40 Window, where the majority

4 of Buddhists live, are shrinking. We have won very few Buddhists, and most of the 5 members in our churches in these regions are elderly. Our church needs young people to lead in 6 Southeast Asia. Old people cannot attract young people, nor can they produce biological growth.

7 We need young missionaries. While God used Moses, who was elderly, to lead His people, Jesus called
8 young people to be His disciples and send them out to preach the gospel. He asked us to pray for more
9 laborers to go into the fields. In Asia, where 99% of Buddhists live, the need is desperate. Only 1% of 10 people in Thailand, Cambodia, Laos, and Vietnam are Christians, and less than 0.1% of Buddhists have 11 embraced Christianity. In Thailand, there are 17,000 Adventists, but over 90% come from animistic 12 backgrounds. Less than 1,000 are from Buddhist backgrounds. The numbers are similarly low in 13 Myanmar, Laos, Vietnam, and Cambodia.

14 Do the 520 million Buddhists (including Chinese Buddhists) deserve to hear the gospel message before
15 Jesus returns?

16 The Urgency of the Mission:

17 If you feel called to act, know that this work is urgent. Jesus illustrated this urgency in His 18 parable of the workers in the vineyard, where He sought laborers even at the eleventh hour. The 19 same applies to the harvest of souls. When rice is ready for harvest, it must be gathered within 3-5
20 days or the grains will fall to the ground. The same is true for reaching Buddhists—they are ripe 21 for harvest now.

22 Currently, there is no church-sponsored mission in Northeastern Thailand, where 23 million
23 Buddhists live. Can we continue to ignore the call to reach these people? Is it because we believe 24 it's too difficult to share the love of God with Buddhists?

25 Is the Lord Calling You?

26 The harvest needs young workers. Just as the elderly may struggle physically to harvest rice,
27 older generations are not able to reach young Buddhists as effectively. God need young, vibrant
28 missionaries to go to Asia and bring in His harvest.

29 Are you willing to go?

30 Will You Be Like Isaiah or Jonah?

31 Isaiah heard God's call and responded, "Here am I. Send me!" (Isaiah 6:8). Jonah, on the other hand, ran 32 away from his mission. He eventually went, but unwillingly. Wouldn't it be better to go voluntarily?

33 The question remains: Will you answer God's call to preach to Buddhists in Southeast Asia? Is now the 34 time, or will you delay, as others have, saying, "It is not the right time to rebuild the house of the Lord?"

35 How to Preach to Buddhists:

1 Many feel uneasy about reaching Buddhists, given the challenge of converting less than 1%. But God
2 only asks you to go —He will use you.

3 1. Acts of Kindness Ministry:

4 Buddhists are friendly and value relationships. By visiting their homes, offering small gifts, and 5 building friendships, trust grows. When they ask why you are so kind, you will have the chance to 6 share your faith.

7 2. Prayer Ministry:

8 Be open about your faith and offer to pray for their needs. Buddhists don't mind praying to 9 another God, but when they experience answers to prayer, they may give their hearts to Jesus. We 10 have seen sick people healed and alcoholics delivered through prayer, leading many to baptism.

11 3. Reaching Buddhists through Food:

12 Sharing meals is a powerful way to connect. Jesus said, "You give them something to eat" (Mark 13 6:37). Offering food to those in need opens doors for evangelism. In one case, a woman's 14 cooking skills helped plant a church in a Buddhist village.

15 4. Teaching English to Children:

16 English is in high demand, and teaching it provides an easy way to build relationships with both 17 children and parents, many of whom have joined the church after their children did.

18 5. Radio Ministry:

19 Radio may seem outdated, but in our region, it's still effective. We've baptized many listeners 20 who first heard the gospel through the airwaves.

21 These simple methods are working in Northeast Thailand, where the population is 100% Buddhist. All 22 you need is a willingness to come and help.

23 Conclusion:

24 The need for missionaries in Buddhist countries has never been greater. Jesus is 25 coming soon and He is counting on you to reach and share the Good News with those who do not yet
26 know Him. You don't need to be a great preacher or be highly educated—just have a willing heart and an 27 open mind. God will equip you for the work.

28 Will you say, "Here am I. Send me!"

1 Prayer :

2 Dear Lord,

3 We come to You with hearts open, ready to serve and share Your love. Guide us as we step out in faith to 4 reach those who have not yet heard the good news. Give us courage and wisdom to follow Your call. May 5 our words and actions reflect Your love and grace. We ask for open hearts among our Buddhist friends,
6 and for Your Spirit to lead them to a relationship with You. In Jesus' name, Amen.

7 Discussion Questions:

8 1. What are some reasons why many of us hesitate to answer the call to spread the gospel to 9 Buddhist nations, and how can we overcome these barriers?

10 2. In what ways can we be more intentional in building relationships with Buddhists to create 11 opportunities for sharing the gospel, both in our communities and globally?

12 3. How can we as a church mobilize young adults to engage in missions, especially in areas like 13 Southeast Asia where the need is urgent?

2 Crossing Cultural Barriers

3 Dr. Cliff Shameerudeen

4 Focus: Hindu Population

5 Main Text: 1 Peter 3:15 (NIV)

6 “But in your hearts revere Christ as Lord. Always be prepared to give an answer to everyone who asks
7 you to give the reason for the hope that you have. But do this with gentleness and respect.”

8 Introduction – Hinduism

9 When we think of South Asians (India, Nepal, Bangladesh, Sri Lanka etc), what comes to mind? You
10 may say: culture, festivals, tea, or spicy food. Well, you guessed right. Just type “Indian restaurant” into 11 your map search. You might be surprised to find more than one South Asian restaurant in your area.
12 Today, we will learn more about one of the people groups from this area commonly referred to as Hindus.

13 Most South Asians are Hindus and have roots in the Indian Subcontinent. The word “Hindu” is a 14 relatively recent term coined by the British Empire in the 19th century. It is a general term used to 15 describe the majority religious practices of India. According to wikipedia.org there are about 1.2 billion 16 Hindus worldwide, which makes up about 15% of the world's population.

17 Hinduism is best defined as a “family of religion” made up of many schools of thought. It is best
18 understood in two categories: philosophical and popular traditions. According to Bharti, the best
19 understanding of Hinduism is by "Understanding Hindus themselves.”

20 Another way of understanding Hinduism is that it is a way of life, a civilisation, a social order, and more 21 than a religion; it includes the moral, spiritual, and social spheres of life.

22 A brief Comparison between Adventism and Hinduism-

23 Family Values

24 Adventists and Hindus have many family values in common, though just calling oneself a Christian or 25 Hindu does not guarantee that one has strong family values. Often, Hindus exhibit better family values
26 than Christians. Nevertheless, it is agreed that whether you are a Hindu or an Adventist, family values are 27 lived out by intentional effort and lifestyle practices. Hindu teachings hold that a good family is one that 28 practices sacrifice, love, service to humanity, and religious observance. Similar to Adventists, Hindus
29 understand and respect the importance of family worship. According to Hindu teachings, the head of the 30 family is the father, who plays a vital role in leading the family by performing the yagna, which is the

1 ritual of securing the blessings of the deities annually. In addition, Hindus expect women and men to
2 adhere to a strict code of conduct in society. These are similar to the teachings of the Bible, in which God
3 expects the head of the family to be the father, and the father is to lead the family in worship and model
4 Jesus Christ to their families.

5 Another similarity between Hindus and Adventists is their respect for humanity and their teachings on 6 honoring parents and elders. Hindus honor the contributions of humans in different ways. For example,
7 Hindus use special days of worship to publicly show how much they value the contributions of their 8 foreparents.

9 Spiritual Life

10 Mistakenly, many Christians perceive Hindus solely as idol worshippers who practice pagan rituals. This 11 is not an accurate assessment of all Hindus. While the majority of Hindus would be classified as people
12 who worship idols, there are those who do not worship any idols or who worship only one deity. Also,
13 while it is true that Hindus have many rituals that are foreign and probably difficult for Christians to 14 understand, the same can be said of Christian rituals and practices from a Hindu perspective. Hindus in 15 the diaspora seldom interact with Christians on a deep level due to differences in religion, culture, and 16 language. These factors contribute to Hindus' lack of understanding of the worship style, culture, and 17 spirituality of Adventism. In fact, many Hindus have the misconception that the Catholic Church is the 18 entire Christian church and that the Pope is its head. When interacting with Hindus, it would be helpful to 19 explain to them the spiritual journey of Adventism.

20 Many Hindus are willing to talk about spiritual subjects such as who God is, how one becomes holy, how 21 to overcome bad habits, and what it takes to become a good person. The Hindu view of God is different
22 from the Adventist one, and Hindus are usually surprised to learn that the Bible teaches that God is love,
23 He is powerful, and He cares about the affairs of humanity. Taking time to share your experience of 24 God's love for you is a good place to start when sharing your faith with a Hindu. Hindus are intrigued by 25 the spiritual lifestyle of Adventists, especially the Adventist teachings and practices on forgiveness and 26 living a life of peace, contentment, and happiness in God. The truth is that both Adventists and Hindus
27 strongly desire to have a spiritual walk with God and regard devotion as being integral to their faith.

28 Salvation

29 The goal of a Hindu is to achieve moksha or salvation. The basic qualifications for moksha, either in this 30 life or in another reincarnation, is the individual's responsibility. In Adventism, salvation culminates in 31 living together with a personal God, while in Hinduism, moksha or salvation is when one ceases to exist
32 by becoming one with Eternal Reality. Hindus believe this will happen by following Hinduism's
33 prescribed rituals and teachings. However, Hindus generally struggle with the assurance of moksha.

34 In comparison, the Bible teaches that Christians may have the assurance of salvation by accepting it as a 35 free gift given by God. The difference between the two systems is that in Hinduism moksha is earned by 36 human effort, while in Christianity, salvation cannot be earned through works. One's actions then 37 demonstrate acceptance of the gift of salvation through submission to God.

1 When you engage with Hindus, it is helpful to share that Christians have the assurance of salvation and
2 will receive salvation and eternal life. However, you should avoid comparing and contrasting processes of 3 salvation because Hindus have many different processes and methods of obtaining moksha. It is better to 4 state that God longs to reunite with us.

5 Devotional Life

6 Both Christianity and Hinduism advocate total devotion to God. The differences between the two 7 religions can be described as the purpose of devotion, the channel to becoming a devotee, the benefits of 8 devotion, and lastly, the believed outcomes of devotion. For example, in Hinduism, devotees are expected
9 to participate in daily spiritual exercises to gain moksha or salvation. The Bhagavad Gita, the Hindu 10 scriptures, states that even the most evil person can be saved by calling on the name of god and 11 acknowledging his or her mistakes (Sarma 2003, 44). Thus, Christianity and Hinduism differ regarding 12 the criteria for salvation. In Christianity, salvation is a free gift, and humans are given the power to 13 choose God. On the other hand, in Hinduism, the emphasis is placed on one's ability to meet basic 14 religious requirements and practices.

15 Worship is a part of devotion and plays a very significant role in all areas of Hindu life. Hindus compare
16 worship to the air humans breathe; one cannot survive without it. Hindus have regular home worship—
17 some worship only in the morning, while others worship both morning and evening. The worship area in 18 the home is sacred—it could be any designated area, an entire room, or a portion of the living room.
19 Hindu home worships vary from tradition to tradition, but all Hindus believe that by worshipping, they 20 seek the deities' help. Worshippers expect blessings and make petitions through daily rituals. Hindu 21 worship rituals include offering flowers and/or food on the family altar.

22 Building a Bridge

23 God's relationship and, ultimately His mission to the "nations" rested on His sovereignty over them
24 regardless of whether the "nations" recognized Him as such or not. The fact is that all the "nations" of the 25 entire earth were nothing more than "a drop in a bucket" to God (Isaiah 40:15). (Tompkins pg. 6) The 26 world's religions, and especially Hinduism, are comparable with the "nations" found in the Old 27 Testament. In order to make this clear, it must be understood what is meant by Hinduism, keeping in 28 mind that this is not an in-depth study of Hinduism. (Tompkins pg 12). But like the nations of old there is 29 more to it than just recognition that God is Sovereign. God wanted to bless the nations (Genesis 12:3), 30 and He wants to bless Hindus today. God's call to Abraham is still being fulfilled and will continue to be 31 as long as people are on this earth. (Tompkins pg 12). We are called to build a bridge for the Hindus of 32 the world.

33 Where do we start?

34 Every people group has its way of showing hospitality and its methods of teaching its adherents. This is 35 also true for South Asians. Hospitality is very important in their culture and is taught at a very young age.
36 Adults must practice it and pass down these values to the next generation. According to Hindu scholars, 37 hospitality is both a religious and social obligation. For Hindus, entertaining visitors or strangers is non-38 negotiable. It is taught that by showing hospitality to strangers or visitors, one will receive blessings.

1 In South Asian culture, friendship is formed when food is involved. As Seventh-day Adventists,
2 misreading our Hindu friends' culture can lead to not trusting our relationships with them. For example, if
3 your Hindu friends invite you to their home and you are offered food or something to drink but refuse,
4 your refusal can be viewed as rejecting their friendship. Thus, it is wise to be mindful of South Asian
5 customs. Building trust among Hindus takes time and patience. Once you have built trust with your Hindu
6 friends, sharing the good news of Jesus Christ will be easier.

7 Understanding the Hindus people

8 The Hindu worldview prevents Hindus from mingling with Christians, as this may lead to dialogue on 9 spiritual matters that challenge their worldview. Therefore, disciple-makers must become known among 10 Hindu communities as a blessing, not a threat. The model given to the Adventist Church by Ellen White
11 paves the way for connecting with Hindus non-threateningly. "Christ's method," as succinctly described
12 in the Ministry of Healing (1905, p. 143), is a tested and proven method among Hindus. As Hindus
13 mingle with Adventists, their worldview is disturbed. Hiebert notes that exposure to another worldview is 14 one means of worldview transformation. He writes that when a person steps into another worldview, they 15 are able to see its strengths and weaknesses (Hiebert 2008, 321).

16 Belonging before Becoming

17 Becoming a disciple is truly a journey. "Belonging before becoming" refers to the stage before Hindus
18 accept Jesus Christ as their personal Savior. Many models of discipleship assume the person who is being 19 discipled has already accepted Jesus, which may be correct because discipleship comes from the word
20 disciple. However, most Hindus do not have a Christian frame of reference for the God of the Bible, nor 21 an understanding of Christian culture. In some ways, the Hindu culture and worldview are entirely out of 22 sync with Christian doctrines. Therefore, it is necessary to consider that discipleship begins before a 23 person's acceptance of Jesus through baptism. This approach recommends that Hindus be welcomed into 24 the Adventist community without the formal commitment of baptism—his will allow them to taste and 25 see that God is good. When Hindu families experience the love and grace of Jesus Christ, the transition 26 and discipleship process becomes more effective.

27 Do's and Don't

28 In Adventism, there are many terms used to present and describe evangelism among unreached people
29 groups. Many of these terms have been adopted from other Christian denominations. Unfortunately, a 30 number of these terms have become loaded with prejudices, colonial nuances, superiority, and cruelty in 31 the name of Jesus Christ. Below are a few significant commonly-used terms to be aware of in your 32 interaction with Hindus.

33 The meaning of conversion in Christianity differs substantially from the Hindu interpretation of the term.
34 To Hindus, conversion means abandoning one's culture, family, and society to join something strange and 35 foreign. In some Hindu contexts, conversion has even become a political issue. Presenting the Christian 36 idea of conversion to Hindus often becomes an unnecessary stumbling block that prevents them from 37 accepting Jesus. It is better to allow conversion to be an experience rather than an event or a loosely used 38 catchphrase when sharing your faith with Hindus.

1 Hindus are very open to learning about Jesus Christ. However, a challenge arises when they are 2 encouraged to get baptized without fully understanding the purpose or meaning of baptism. Many
3 Hindus have inherited an incorrect understanding of baptism. This misunderstanding is derived from past
4 experiences with Christians in India. Historically, baptism has been celebrated as an event that marked
5 victory over Hinduism. As a result, an Indian national movement arose that viewed baptism as a political 6 tool that Westerners used as a way of suppressing their people. Today, little has changed concerning this 7 view of baptism.

8 Baptism should never be forced on anyone and should be treated as simply one aspect of an individual's 9 journey with Christ. It should be something that Hindus celebrate with their children and spouse rather 10 than a means of dividing a family or community. It is best to allow the conversion of Hindus to happen
11 only through the working of the Holy Spirit, not coercion. Then, over time, they may accept and desire 12 the public expression of baptism and continue as witnesses in their communities.

13 Hindus have many distorted views of Christianity. One of them is the misunderstanding that Christianity
14 is a religion of the Dalits or Harijans. This misunderstanding stems from how Christianity entered Hindu
15 communities in India. Christianity was first associated only with a certain caste in India; however, while 16 many changes have taken place in recent times, this perception still exists. On a very positive note, many 17 Hindus confess that they desire to have the Christ-like peace that exists among Christians. Spending
18 quality time with Hindus in a non-threatening environment allows them to be exposed to Jesus Christ
19 without hearing a sermon. Instead, they can witness a sermon of practical living. This quality time is 20 fundamental to establishing trust with Hindus. In practice, such a connection could be created in many 21 ways, such as through a center of influence in the community; a prayer ministry that focuses on healing—
22 preferably in the homes of Hindus or at the church, as the Holy Spirit leads; or a friendship ministry
23 through invitations to one's house or invitations to special functions. Whatever the method, the goal is to 24 connect with Hindus in ways that lead them to know Jesus.

25 Witnessing opportunities

26 This question is already answered in the Bible. Jesus Christ gave His life for all humanity, including 27 Hindus. Therefore, it is imperative that everyone experience His love. However, the responsibility to 28 witness is not one that makes Adventists better than Hindus. The main principle to remember when 29 sharing your faith with Hindus is that God is and has been at work in the lives of Hindus long before any 30 Adventists came into contact with them. The commonalities noted above indicate that Hindus hold many 31 beliefs that are similar to the teachings of the Bible. Hindus believe in the existence of evil and of evil
32 spirits. What they need is guidance in their spiritual journey with God, an approach that requires humility, 33 patience, and love for your Hindu friends.

34 Hindus are not familiar with the Christian worldview. For example, they most likely do not know the 35 story of Moses or Adam or understand Christian terms such as sanctification or justification. Therefore, it
36 is best to avoid the proof-text approach when having Bible studies with Hindus. Instead, tell them a story 37 and explain the meaning and teachings of that story. Hindus are familiar with this format of learning. The 38 life of Christ and end-time events are usually appealing to Hindus. The stories of Ruth and the book of 39 John are also good examples of where to start when having a Bible study with Hindus. However, keep in 40 mind that Hindus are confused about the concept of Jesus' death. Many believe that God cannot die.
41 Using simple language will be most helpful.

1 Sharing your faith:

2 Head of the Family

3 In a group-oriented context, the focus should be on the karta (head) of the family and community. The 4 karta is the most influential person in the family. Usually a male and head of the household, the karta is 5 both loved and feared. He is a father figure who could be a father or grandfather or father-in-law or uncle,
6 or in modern times, a respected female (Sinha 1995). When the head of the family accepts the teachings
7 of Jesus, it is much easier for the rest of the family to embrace the newfound faith. The Bible records a
8 story of a family structure similar to that of the Indian family system. Joshua, a leader among his people
9 stated, “As for me and my house, we will serve the LORD” (Josh 24:15).

10 Person of Peace

11 Additionally, Jesus suggested a person of peace model in Luke 10:5-12. According to this Bible passage, 12 Adventists should look for a person of peace in the Hindu community. The person of peace is a resident in 13 the community, someone who is respected and who can influence others on their journeys to Christ. Other
14 examples of a person of peace in the Bible include the centurion (Luke 7:1-10), the Samaritan woman
15 (John 4:1-30), Cornelius (Acts 10:9-11:1), Lydia (Acts 16:13-15), and the Philippian jailer (Acts 16:22-16 38). All these people influenced others to accept Jesus.

17 Center of influence:

18 According to Gary Krause (2019), Life Hope Centers are centers of influence that model Jesus’ holistic 19 method of ministry. He noted that Ellen G. White envisioned these centers as featuring a wide variety of 20 activities, such as lifestyle education, treatment rooms, restaurants, and small groups (Krause 2019).

21 These centers can help facilitate contact with the non-Christian world through “social relations” (White 22 1905, 480). This model is not a bait-and-switch approach but rather an organic approach that begins and 23 ends with meeting the needs of people, regardless of their backgrounds or choices in life.

24 Power of Prayer:

25 Praying for Hindus generally opens doors for dialogue and opportunities for long-lasting relationships.
26 Testimonies from Hindus indicate that when their loved ones were in life-threatening situations, such as 27 during a major illness or when afflicted by evil spirits, they sought out Christian spiritual leaders for help.
28 Hindus have testified that, in most cases, they accepted Jesus Christ as a result of His answers to their 29 prayers. For a Hindu, it is important to follow God when He answers prayers. The Bible teaches that 30 followers of Jesus are called to minister to Hindus regardless of their decision whether or not to follow
31 Him.

32 This means that personal prayers for Hindu coworkers, neighbors, or friends must be genuine.
33 Intercessory prayer for Hindus is also encouraged. Many Hindus are in bondage to Satan. If they have a 34 sick family member, offer to pray with them or invite your pastor, with their permission, to pray in their 35 homes. Please note that if you are invited to pray for a Hindu in their home it is highly recommended that

1 you remove your shoes before prayer, or even before entering the home. Another way to witness to 2 Hindus is through praying for their deliverance from evil spirits, as this opens the door to dialogue with 3 them concerning the power of God, a power that is not found in Hinduism. Hindus are attracted by this 4 simple and powerful way to remove evil spirits.

5 Hindus believe that dreams are a significant means to understanding one's fate, future, current problems,
6 the mysteries of life, and interference by evil spirits. Hindus have many ways of deciphering dreams,
7 depending on the various Hindu traditions. However, all Hindus seek out religious leaders for guidance
8 regarding their dreams, and they generally pray that God will give them dreams.

9 Appeal

10 I am so glad that Jesus loves the 1.2 billion Hindus in the world. God is calling our young people to share
11 His love with the Hindu people. The mandate given to the Adventist Church is to share the "good news"
12 to all the world including the Hindus. Ellen White in her writings has challenged us to cross cultural 13 barriers, and language to reach those who are hungry for "truth". We can begin by prayer. We invite you
14 to sign up on the Global Mission Center for South Asian Religions website (gmcsar.org) to get a copy of 15 the annual prayer guide. Next, building trust through friendship. Showing sympathy, Helping them with 16 their needs are good next steps. Through the social and spiritual connection, the door can be open to 17 Adventist young people to share their faith with the 1.2 Billion Hindus in the world.

18 Prayer:

19 Heavenly Father,

20 We thank You for the rich culture and traditions of our Hindu brothers and sisters, and for the opportunity
21 to share Your love with them. Guide us to approach them with humility, respect, and genuine
22 compassion. May our words and actions reflect Your grace, and may Your Holy Spirit prepare their hearts
23 to receive the hope we have in Jesus Christ. Help us to build bridges of understanding and trust, so that 24 Your love may reach every corner of the world.

25 In Jesus' name, Amen.

26 Discussion Questions:

- 27 1. How can we share our faith with Hindus in a way that reflects gentleness and respect, as taught in 28 1 Peter 3:15?
- 29 2. How can building trust and relationships with Hindus create opportunities for sharing the gospel?
- 30 3. What common values between Adventism and Hinduism can help us share the hope of salvation
31 with Hindus?

4 Focus: Consumerism

5 Main Text: 1 Corinthians 3:16

6 "Do you not know that you are the temple of God and that the Spirit of God dwells in you?"

7 A missionary in Europe pens this life experience he had at the age of 16. He says, "Although I was born
8 into an almost Adventist family (my father got baptized when I was 9, but he always respected that my 9 mother took us to church), I had a somewhat disoriented adolescence. The desire to explore new things
10 and the inherent rebellion of youth led me to stray a bit from God and the church. I remember a day from 11 my teenage years when I spent the night at a friend's house with another friend. While there we found 12 some hidden bottles that his grandfather kept at home, not knowing what to do with them since they had 13 been given to him by clients. Likely, we didn't make the best use of them. We lost control, and without 14 going into details, I ended up spending the night at the police station. After a few hours, they asked me to 15 call my parents because I was under 18. What scared me the most was not the police, but how my parents
16 would react. My mother isn't particularly harsh, but she's a woman of her time, born in Spain in 1949
17 when things were only explained once. If you didn't understand, you were in trouble. I was terrified of 18 making that call. In that very call, you could feel the humiliation and shame on one side of the phone, and 19 the shock and disbelief on the other. Yes, at 16 years old, I was calling my parents at 5 a.m. for them to 20 pick me up from the police station. Three people came to get me: my older brother (who I looked up to in 21 almost everything...without discrediting my two other older brothers), who looked at me in disbelief. My 22 father, with the same reaction as my brother. And my mother, with an indecipherable expression. I won't 23 lie, I closed my eyes, expecting the biggest slap of my life; I tensed my body and held my breath, ready to 24 take the hit."

25 His story makes me reflect on a few things. What is our perception of God? What image of God do
26 secular people in the city have? Is the church still today that agent of God that makes His love felt in 27 society? Are we embracing those who need restoration? Do only those who share your faith have the right
28 to God's embrace?

29 Join me on a journey through the Bible, where we will discover the purpose of the church for the city.

30 1. What is the nature and purpose of the temple in the Bible?

- 31 A. Exodus 25:8, "And let them make Me a sanctuary, that I may dwell among them.": The 32 sanctuary was a replica of the model shown to Moses. It served pedagogically so that God's 33 followers could understand the plan designed to end suffering and injustice and create a 34 world where humans could live in a state of lasting happiness. However, the most important

1 purpose given by God was that HE WANTED TO DWELL WITH HIS. God wanted to move
2 in with His people. Isn't that amazing? Basically, God was moving into the neighborhood.
3 The Shekinah (God's presence) dwelt in the Tabernacle.

4 B. Matthew 1:23, "Behold, the virgin shall be with child, and bear a Son, and they shall call His 5 name Immanuel," which is translated, "God with us.": One of the most used texts during the 6 Christmas season. But pay closer attention to the name's literal meaning: "God with us". The 7 birth of Jesus, the arrival of the WORD, God made man, receives a title that aligns with the 8 purpose of the Old Testament: God wants to be with us (John 1:14).

9 C. John 2:19-2, "Jesus answered and said to them, 'Destroy this temple, and in three days I will 10 raise it up.' Then the Jews said, 'It has taken forty-six years to build this temple, and will 11 You raise it up in three days?'" But He was speaking of the temple of His body.": You have 12 probably heard this verse many times. Think for a few moments about the line we're 13 following. What was the temple in the Old Testament? What was the temple when Jesus lived 14 among us? Is any building that can contain God's presence better than Jesus of Nazareth?
15 (Colossians 2:9)

16 D. 1 Corinthians 3:16, "Do you not know that you are the temple of God and that the Spirit of 17 God dwells in you?" and 1 Corinthians 6:19, "Or do you not know that your body is the 18 temple of the Holy Spirit who is in you, whom you have from God, and you are not your 19 own?" : Paul speaks after Jesus' ascension. This leaves us a bit confused. Where is the 20 temple, where does God's presence dwell? It no longer made sense to return to the Old
21 Testament system. Jesus could no longer be the temple since He is now in heaven. Yes, dear
22 friend, today, the temple is you. With your flaws and virtues, weaknesses and strengths, God 23 wants to live in your heart, and for that reason, our whole life must be worthy of that.

24 Some lessons to take away:

25 1. God always takes the initiative.

26 2. God always draws near to humanity: the Tabernacle, Jesus among us, and now our 27 bodies. There is no place closer where God can come to be by your side. That is why Paul 28 reminds us in Acts 17:27 that He is not far from us.

29 3. "Temples" cannot contain God (Acts 17:24). Stones cannot enclose God. His presence 30 is not in our church buildings but in the church—the people who make it up.

31 4. God is dynamic, always seeking to rescue the lost sheep, the coin, and the son.

32 5. God is always present, by human's side

34 For reflection:

1 1. We know that starting with Jesus, buildings have a specific utility, but the true temple
2 is us (Matthew 18:20). What church should I continue building to fulfill God's purpose?

3 2. How can I embrace the people of the city today, at university, in the same way that 4 God embraces me?

5 3. Do you know how the story ends? Jesus becomes the Temple again. The infinite
6 presence of God eternally dwelling among us (Revelation 21:22).

8 1. What is the nature and purpose of the church in the Bible?

9 "The church is God's appointed means for the salvation of men. It was organized to serve, and its mission
10 is to proclaim the Gospel to the world." – Acts of the Apostles, p.9.

11 What implications does this quote have for you? What is the role of the church? The Greek term 12 for "church" generally implies "a community of outward-focused people."

13 Often, when we think of the church, we do so abstractly. Sometimes we think of the local church,
14 the building, the organization, etc. Secular people see all these images of the church but from a negative
15 point of view: they see hierarchy, oppression, abuse of power, injustice, and coldness. Others think we 16 don't need religion or a church since we can survive individually. What can we do as a church to give 17 them a different vision? A vision of salvation, service, Good News.

18 Let's follow a process of analysis of the church. I propose the following outline:

19 What is the church? Aspect/Essence

20 How is the church? Method

21 Why the church? Purpose

22 What is the church? Although we have just discussed this, if you ask each member of our church
23 what the church is, you'll be surprised by how many different answers you will find. These are some of 24 the examples I have encountered:

25 - The physical building, with its sacred and less sacred parts - The denomination (the doctrinal 26 body)

27 - The institution (as an organization: association, union, division, etc.)

28 - The individual: each one develops their own way of relating to God You may have more 29 examples.

1 In Europe for example, thinking of the church as a building presents certain problems. Thousands of 2 church buildings are being abandoned, sold, and repurposed for other uses, or even demolished. If we
3 think of buildings, there are fewer churches now than before. In a building the people may change, but the 4 church remains. Isn't that strange? Imagine a church without a building; what foundation would it be built
5 on? Don't get me wrong, I'm not saying we should demolish buildings. They are very useful and 6 necessary. What I am trying to say is that the church goes beyond all that has been mentioned. The 7 COVID-19 Pandemic taught us that the church is people. The church is you. The church is me. During the 8 pandemic each person was in their home, but the church fought, and in some cases, is still trying to stay
9 united despite the obstacles. Yes, during that time we proved that the church was the people—us, not the 10 buildings. Therefore:

11 - The church is the people, not the buildings.

12 - The church is about disciples, not programs.

13 - The church is not an abstract entity; it is a living body, a community of people.

14 Before starting any venture, the first question we must ask is, "Why should the church exist?"

15 Take the Bible and let us begin another journey to find the purpose of God's people: - The importance
16 of being created in His image:

17 A. Exodus 7:1: What was the role Moses played before Pharaoh? And Aaron? Biblically,
18 we have an example of God's people as the image for those who do not know Him.

19 B. 2 Corinthians 3:2-3: We are God's letters of introduction to society. We are the Bible
20 that secular people will read. Our actions will be the pages they see before they begin 21 to discover Jesus. This aligns with what we discussed yesterday: that they see Jesus in 22 me.

23 C. 1 Peter 2:9: You are very familiar with this text and its implications. All of us, 24 regardless of our condition, are priests.

25 D. Exodus 19:6: Maybe you weren't as familiar with this text. Analyze both and notice
26 what they have in common. We are comparing the Old Testament with the New 27 Testament. And yet, God does not change.

28 For reflection:

29 1. In both the Old and New Testament, God's people are a "nation" of priests. In our time, the 30 High Priest is Jesus, to whom everything is pointed. - The priest is the mediator between 31 God and humanity. - His role is not to represent humanity but rather divinity.

32 2. The people are a reflection of God. We are an example of what it means to be a human 33 restored to God's image.

1 3. We are a united and living body (1 Corinthians 12). Let's return to the quote: "The church is 2 God's appointed means for the salvation of men. It was organized to serve, and its mission is 3 to proclaim the Gospel to the world." (AA 9)

4 4. So the church is:

5 a. a means of salvation, as it leads people to Jesus.

6 b. a purpose of service

7 c. on a mission to proclaim the Good News. Jesus offers you more than you can 8 imagine! What is God's church, then? I leave that answer to you in prayer,
9 that God may enlighten you. The Gospel must be relevant to every generation
10 because the Good News is eternal.

11 d. A group of people who bring the transformative presence of God wherever 12 they go.

13 Remember the story of my mother? As she was approaching I was expecting the worst. However, what I
14 felt was an embrace. The embrace of that 4-foot-11 woman who saw me born and who could have easily
15 knocked me down. A strong and long embrace, accompanied by tears and suffering. But above all, with 16 an infinite dose of love. Dear friend, I can tell you I felt my mother's hug. But in my state, far from this 17 God who loves me so much, I felt it was God's embrace. In that hug, I also felt God telling me:
18 everything would be fine. You are forgiven.

19 Prayer:

20 Heavenly Father,
21 Thank You for Your love and the reminder that You desire to dwell with us. Help us to be living temples
22 of Your Spirit, reflecting Your grace and extending Your love to those around us.

23 May we serve, love, and share Your Good News, bringing Your presence wherever we go. Thank You for 24 forgiving us and calling us to be part of Your mission.

25 In Jesus' name, we pray.
26 Amen.

27 Discussion Questions:

28 1. What are the essential and universal elements of the biblical church, and why?

29 2. How can we align our churches even more for this purpose?

30 3. Do you think secular people are developing secular forms of "church"?

2 Love Your Jewish Neighbor as Yourself!

3 Reinaldo W. Siqueira, Ph.D.

4 Focus: Jewish Population

5 Main Text: Ephesians 2:24

6 "For He Himself is our peace, who has made both one, and has broken down the middle wall of 7 separation."

8 Introduction

9 According to the Bible, "love" is the foundational principle of this world created by God. The apostle
10 John clearly states:

11 "He who does not love does not know God, for God is love." (1 John 4:8)

12 The apostle Paul adds:

13 "Though I speak with the tongues of men and of angels, but have not love, I have become sounding brass
14 or a clanging cymbal. ² And though I have the gift of prophecy, and understand all mysteries and all
15 knowledge, and though I have all faith, so that I could remove mountains, but have not love, I am
16 nothing. ³ And though I bestow all my goods to feed the poor, and though I give my body ^[a]to be burned,
17 but have not love, it profits me nothing. (1 Corinthians 13:1-3)

18 He concludes by saying, "And now abide faith, hope, love, these three; but the greatest of these is love."
19 (1 Corinthians 13:13)

20 Loving God above all and our neighbor as ourselves is the greatest commandment in the Bible, upon 21 which everything else is based (Matthew 22:37-40).

22 As Seventh-day Adventists, we are called, and commanded by God to love everyone around us as God
23 the Father loves them, and as Jesus loves them, remembering that "...God so loved the world that He gave 24 His only begotten Son, that whoever believes in Him should not perish but have everlasting life." (John 25 3:16). This love extends to everyone: good and bad, rich and poor, educated and uneducated, pleasant and 26 unpleasant. Jesus also commands: "A new commandment I give to you, that you love one another; as I 27 have loved you, that you also love one another." (John 13:34).

28 This commandment to love others as Jesus loved us becomes particularly relevant when considering the 29 Jewish people and their historical experiences with Christianity. Often, when Christians think of the 30 Jewish people, they harbor negative attitudes, which can manifest as antipathy, indifference, disgust, and 31 even hatred, leading to aggression and violence. This has been the case since the Middle Ages, through 32 the expulsion and killing of Jews in European Christian cities, the tribunals of the Inquisition, and up to

1 the Holocaust during the Second World War, where six million Jews were exterminated by the Nazi
2 regime. Alarming, similar hatred toward Jewish people is resurging globally, with attacks and murders
3 happening simply because someone is Jewish.

4 Some justify this hatred by claiming, "they killed Jesus," not recognizing that no Jew today participated in 5 the crucifixion of Jesus, an event that occurred more than two thousand years ago. Moreover, those who
6 use this justification forget that Jesus, the victim of this heinous act, forgave his perpetrators: "...Jesus
7 said, "Father, forgive them, for they do not know what they do." (Luke 23:34). If Jesus forgave, who are 8 we to accuse and seek vengeance against today's Jews, who were not involved and had no part in the 9 killing of Jesus?

10 Some cite the claim "His blood is on us and on our children!" (Matthew 27:25) to biblically justify hatred
11 against Jews, asserting that God rejected the Jewish people and subjected them to divine wrath. However, 12 did God truly react this way?

13 The apostle Paul addresses this in his letter to the Romans, affirming:
14 "I say then, has God cast away His people? Certainly not! For I also am an Israelite, of the seed of 15 Abraham, of the tribe of Benjamin. ² God has not cast away His people whom He foreknew..." (Romans

18 " Concerning the gospel they [the Jews] are enemies for your sake, but concerning the election they 19 are beloved for the sake of the fathers. ²⁹ For the gifts and the calling of God are irrevocable. (Romans 20 11:28-29)

22 As Seventh-day Adventists and believers in the Bible, we recognize that all humanity is guilty of Jesus'
23 death, for He died on the cross for the sins of all, including ours. He bore our guilt so we—that is, you,
24 me, and everyone else—may be forgiven (Isaiah 53).

25 Ellen G. White, in her book The Acts of the Apostles (Chapter 35: "Salvation to the Jews"), had this to 26 say:

27 "Even though Israel rejected His Son, God did not reject them. Listen to Paul as 28 he continues the argument: 'I say then, Hath God cast away His people? God 29 forbid. For I also am an Israelite, of the seed of Abraham, of the tribe of 30 Benjamin. God hath not cast away His people which He foreknew..." (AA, p.
31 375)

32 "Notwithstanding the awful doom pronounced upon the Jews as a nation at the 33 time of their rejection of Jesus of Nazareth, there have lived from age to age
34 many noble, God-fearing Jewish men and women who have suffered in silence.
35 God has comforted their hearts in affliction and has beheld with pity their terrible 36 situation. He has heard the agonizing prayers of those who have sought Him with 37 all the heart for a right understanding of His word..." (AA, p. 379)

1 Looking towards the future, she declares:

2 “In the closing proclamation of the gospel, when special work is to be done for 3 classes of people hitherto neglected, God expects His messengers to take 4 particular interest in the Jewish people whom they find in all parts of the earth.
5 As the Old Testament Scriptures are blended with the New in an explanation of 6 Jehovah's eternal purpose, this will be to many of the Jews as the dawn of a new 7 creation, the resurrection of the soul...” (AA, p. 381)

8 “When this gospel shall be presented in its fullness to the Jews, many will accept 9 Christ as the Messiah. Among Christian ministers there are only a few who feel 10 called upon to labor for the Jewish people; but to those who have been often 11 passed by, as well as to all others, the message of mercy and hope in Christ is to 12 come.” (AA, 380).

13 To fulfill God's expectations for His Church toward the Jewish people today, start by befriending them
14 with a loving and sincere attitude, so they may see in you the true love of God and of Jesus for every 15 human being.

16 Identify yourself as a Seventh-day Adventist, not merely as a Christian. Many Jewish people have a 17 limited understanding of Christianity and even less familiarity with Seventh-day Adventists. When they 18 hear that you are a Christian, they might assume you are Catholic, Protestant, or Orthodox, without a clear
19 grasp of what being a Seventh-day Adventist entails. This common misconception can open the way to 20 conversations on the beliefs and practices we share with Judaism, such as observing the Sabbath, adhering
21 to a biblical diet, and valuing the teachings of the Hebrew Bible, all of which contribute to a healthier and 22 longer life. You can also highlight that some densely populated Adventist regions are recognized as 'Blue
23 Zones'—areas where people live significantly longer and healthier lives than most of their global 24 counterparts, often reaching 100 years of age and beyond with a high quality of life. One such zone, 25 Loma Linda, is featured in a Netflix series about the Blue Zones.

26 Finally, let your words be a source of life and blessing to your Jewish friend or neighbor. Avoid 27 accusations or harsh jokes based on prejudice and stereotypes. Be a channel for the Words of Life from 28 God and Jesus, helping them find peace and love from God's throne, fulfilling the promise of a full life by 29 the Messiah of Israel: "I have come that they may have life, and have it to the full." (John 10:10)

30 Thus, let us truly "love our Jewish neighbor as ourselves!"

31 Dear Heavenly Father,

32 Thank You for Your love that knows no boundaries. Help us to love our Jewish neighbors as You have 33 commanded, showing respect, kindness, and understanding. May we be ambassadors of Your love, 34 bringing healing where there is division and extending grace where there is misunderstanding. Guide us to 35 reflect Christ's love in all we do, fostering relationships built on compassion and peace. In Jesus' name,
36 Amen.

37 Discussion Questions:

- 1 1. What does it mean for Christ to "break down the middle wall of separation" in our relationships
2 with others, particularly those of different faiths or cultures? How can we actively embody this 3 principle in our daily lives?
- 4 2. Considering the historical and present challenges in Christian-Jewish relationships, how can we,
5 as Seventh-day Adventists, effectively demonstrate Christ's love and build bridges of 6 understanding and respect?
- 7 3. How does the command to "love your neighbor as yourself" challenge us to reassess our attitudes,
8 words, and actions toward those who may have been historically marginalized or misunderstood,
9 including the Jewish community?

4 Focus: Muslim Population

5 Main Text: Isaiah 60: 6-7

6 The multitude of camels shall cover your land, the dromedaries of Midian and Ephah; all those from 7 Sheba shall come; they shall bring gold and incense, and they shall proclaim the praises of the Lord. All 8 the flocks of Kedar shall be gathered together to you, the rams of Nebaioth shall minister to you; they 9 shall ascend with acceptance on My altar, and I will glorify the house of My glory.

10 Today, I want to share with you a beautiful prophecy in the Bible that the Church of Prophecy may have 11 missed. This prophecy is found in Chapter 60 of Isaiah where it talks about God's mission to all the 12 world. We already know this chapter which begins with this statement: "Arise shine for your light has 13 come and the glory of the Lord is risen upon you... the Gentiles shall come to your light..." We usually 14 stop at verse 5 but the next two verses speak of God's plan for the Children of the East. That is what I 15 want to share with you today.

16 Isaiah 60:6, 7

17 Verse 6: The multitude of camels shall cover your land, The dromedaries of Midian and Ephah; All those 18 from Sheba shall come; They shall bring gold and incense, And they shall proclaim the praises of 19 the Lord.

20 Verse 7: All the flocks of Kedar shall be gathered together to you, The rams of Nebaioth shall minister to 21 you; They shall ascend with acceptance on My altar, And I will glorify the house of My glory.

22 The question arises: why have we not grasped the meaning of these two verses? The five names
23 in these two verses are vital to understanding the two verses. Verse 6 has three names: Midian, 24 Ephah, and Sheba. Verse 7 has two names: Kedar and Nebaioth. The question is, who are these 25 five people?

26 In order to answer the question of who these people are, we need to ask two other questions. The 27 first is, "How many wives did Abraham have?" Now in your mind you are already thinking of 28 the answer. Two! What were the wives' names: Sarah and Hagar, right?

29 Second question is, "How many sons did Abraham have?" I know you are already thinking of 30 the answer. Two! What were their names? From Sarah, Isaac. From Hagar, Ishmael. To 1 understand better, let us go into Genesis 25 for the answer to these questions and the five names

2 in Isaiah 60.

3

4 Who were Midian, Ephah and Sheba? Genesis 25:2 states, “And she bore him Zimran, Jokshan, 5 Medan, Midian, Ishbak, and Shuah.”

6 This is referring to the very sons of Abraham by Keturah. Abraham had three wives and 7 Abraham had eight sons. Midian was Abraham’s son and Jokshan is also another son.

8 Let us find out who was Sheba and who was Ephah, mentioned in Isaiah 60? In Gen. 25:3-4 we 9 read the following.

10 25:3 Jokshan begot Sheba and Dedan...

11 25:4 And the sons of Midian were Ephah, Epher, Hanoch, Abidah, and Eldaah.

12 Midian, Ephah, Sheba, mentioned in Isaiah 60:6 are the children of Keturah? When was the last 13 time you heard a sermon on the third wife of Abraham, Keturah?

14 Now what about Kedar and Nebaioth in Isaiah 60:7? It says,

15 60:7 “All the flocks of Kedar shall be gathered together to you, The rams of Nebaioth shall 16 minister to you...”

17 Let us look at Genesis 25:13,

18 25:13 And these were the names of the sons of Ishmael, by their names, according to their
19 generations: The firstborn of Ishmael, Nebajoth; then Kedar...

20 Nebaioth and Kedar are the grandsons of Abraham through Ishmael. These are the descendants
21 of Hagar. When was the last time you heard a sermon about Hagar in your Church?

22 Are you surprised at what is going on here? Isaac was Abraham’s son of promise. But these are 23 Abraham’s descendants through Hagar and Keturah.

24 Here is another question? Was Hagar a wife of Abraham?

25 "And Sarai Abram's wife took Hagar her maid the Egyptian, after Abram had dwelt ten years in 26 the land of Canaan, and gave her to her husband Abram to be his wife" Gen. 16:3 clearly states
27 that Hagar was given to Abram not as a “wife” in a full legal sense but as a concubine to bear a 28 son, an action that showed Sara’s lack of faith in God’s promise.

1 God had promised a special blessing to Abraham found in Gen. 12:3:

2 “ I will bless those who bless you, And I will curse him who curses you; And in you all the 3 families of the earth shall be blessed.”

4 Though Isaac was the promised son of Abraham who was to fulfil God’s universal plan and 5 everlasting covenant, yet the other sons of Abraham were also going to receive blessings of God.
6 God was planning to bless all the families of the earth and surely, he would bless Abraham’s 7 own descendants too.

8 Abraham had sent the children of Hagar and Keturah into the East. We see this in Genesis 25:6
9 (Read). This is why, in the Bible, they are called the People of the East. We also know the story
10 of how Sarah and Abraham expelled Hagar and her son Ishmael, but 1,300 years later, Isaiah 60
11 verse 6 tells us that Keturah’s children (Midian, Ephah, Sheba) are coming. And Isaiah 60:7 is 12 telling us that Hagar’s descendants (Kedar and Nebaioth) are also coming. So, though they were 13 sent out from Abraham's home and presence, they were never sent out of the presence of God.
14 God is prophesying that one day, the children of Keturah and Hagar will be coming back to the 15 land of Israel and the House of God.

16 Jesus also shared God’s plan in Matthew:

17 24:14 " And this gospel of the kingdom will be preached in all the world as a witness to all 18 the nations, and then the end will come.”

19 God's greatest desire is that the message, as it says in Revelation 14:6, should reach every 20 kindred, tongue, and people. That plan also includes the descendants of Abraham, especially 21 those who are not the descendants of Isaac.

22 In the Old Testament, after Abraham's death, we notice that Sarah's descendants were called 23 Children of Israel, and Hagar and Keturah’s children, since they were sent to the East, were 24 called “People of the East” or “Children of the East”. Though God had a cosmic, universal plan
25 of salvation to be fulfilled (and realized) through Isaac and his descendants, God had a plan for 26 the “People of the East” as well.

27 We know that Isaac’s descendants were known for their twelve tribes. How many tribes were 28 there for Ishmael? This is what we read in Genesis 25:13-16:

29 25:13 And these were the names of the sons of Ishmael, by their names, according to their 30 generations: The firstborn of Ishmael, Nebajoth; then Kedar, Adbeel, Mibsam,

31 25:14 Mishma, Dumah, Massa,

32 25:15 Hadar, Tema, Jetur, Naphish, and Kedemah.

1 25:16 These were the sons of Ishmael and these were their names...

2 So you must be saying that this is good, but how come the children of Ishmael (or better known
3 as the children of the East) were to co-operate with the children of Isaac in God's great plan?

4 In the line of Isaac, Jacob had a son called Joseph, whom his brothers did not like and planned to 5 kill. We read in Genesis 37:24-28 the following:

6 Then they took him and cast him into a pit. And the pit was empty; there was no water in it. And they sat
7 down to eat a meal. Then they lifted their eyes and looked, and there was a company of Ishmaelites,
8 coming from Gilead with their camels, bearing spices, balm, and myrrh, on their way to carry them down
9 to Egypt. So Judah said to his brothers, “What profit is there if we kill our brother and conceal his 10 blood? Come and let us sell him to the Ishmaelites, and let not our hand be upon him, for he is our 11 brother and our flesh.” And his brothers listened. Then Midianite traders passed by; so the brothers pulled 12 Joseph up and lifted him out of the pit, and sold him to the Ishmaelites for twenty shekels of silver. And 13 they took Joseph to Egypt.

14 Ishmaelites and Midianites saved the life of Joseph by cooperating in the plan of God to preserve
15 the life of Israelites for the future.

16 Later another descendant of Isaac by the name of Moses, had to run away from the Pharaoh in 17 Egypt. Moses had killed an Egyptian, about which Pharaoh heard, and he wanted to kill Moses.
18 We read in Exodus:

19 2:15 When Pharaoh heard of this matter, he sought to kill Moses. But Moses fled from the face of 20 Pharaoh and dwelt in the land of Midian; and he sat down by a well.

21 Moses fled to Midian. Midian was a son of Abraham, whose descendants now saved the life of Moses.
22 They cooperated in the great plan of God to preserve the life of a future greatest leader of the children of 23 Israel and to make possible the greatest and most dramatic exodus that has ever taken place on the face of 24 this earth.

25 Moses stayed in the house of the priest of Midian, who also happened to be his father-in-law, Jethro.
26 Moses also learnt about a story of God's friendship with Job. It says in Job 1:

27 1:1 There was a man in the land of Uz, whose name was Job; and that man was blameless and upright,
28 and one who feared God and shunned evil.

29 1:3 Also, his possessions were seven thousand sheep, three thousand camels, five hundred yoke of oxen,
30 five hundred female donkeys, and a very large household, so that this man was the greatest of all
31 the people of the East.

32 Job was from the “People of the East”.

1 Later Jethro, from the “People of the East”, taught the great lesson of Management in Exodus 18

2 18:19 " Listen now to my voice; I will give you ^[a]counsel, and God will be with you..."

3 18:21 " Moreover you shall select from all the people able men, such as fear God, men of truth, hating 4 covetousness; and place such over them to be rulers of thousands, rulers of hundreds, rulers of fifties, and 5 rulers of tens."

6 This is the story that we see in the Old Testament of the Children of Israel on one side. They 7 were descendants of Isaac. We also see the stories in the Old Testament of the “Children of the 8 East”. They were descendants of Ishmael and Midian.

9 When we come to the New Testament, this is what we read in Matthew:

10 2:1 Now after Jesus was born in Bethlehem of Judea in the days of Herod the king, behold, wise
11 men from the East came to Jerusalem,

12 2:2 saying, “Where is He who has been born King of the Jews? For we have seen His star in the East and 13 have come to worship Him.”

14 Who came at the birth of Jesus? The Children of the East. Did the Children of Israel come? No.
15 The Angels had to tell the Shepherds to go. The Children of Israel had hundreds of prophecies 16 of the Messiah’s coming in the Old Testament but they never came to the birth of Jesus, but the 17 Children of the East did.

18 This was in fulfillment of a prophecy in Isaiah;

19 60:6 The multitude of camels shall cover your land, The dromedaries of Midian and Ephah; All those 20 from Sheba shall come; They shall bring gold and incense, And they shall proclaim the praises of 21 the Lord.

22 This prophecy was fulfilled at the first coming of Jesus. The multitude of camels came from 23 Midian, Ephah and Sheba, in the East. They brought gold with them. They brought incense with 24 them. And they proclaimed the praises of the Lord. Every word of this prophecy was fulfilled at 25 the first coming of Jesus.

26 But another part of the prophecy has still not been fulfilled, yet.

27 60:7 All the flocks of Kedar shall be gathered together to you, The rams of Nebaioth shall minister to 28 you; They shall ascend with acceptance on My altar, And I will glorify the house of My glory.

1 Who is Kedar and Nebaioth? These are the sons of Ishmael? The text clearly states that the 2 Children of Ishmael will come with their gifts on the altar of God. They will bring their gifts in 3 the House of God. This prophecy has not been fulfilled. When will it be fulfilled? It will be 4 fulfilled before the Second Coming of Jesus. We have a role to play.

5 Where is the house of God? In Jerusalem? Or is it the Sabbath-keeping church of God. We have 6 a role to play for them to come in.

7 God is happy to see all saved in His Kingdom. Are we ready to let them in? Are we going to 8 make this vision and dream of God a reality? We have seen that the Children of the East were 9 willing to cooperate in God's universal plan. Are you and I willing to cooperate with God in 10 reaching out to the people whom God loves?

11 Let us go forward in the zeal of God to make this dream a reality. John 3:16 “For God so loved 12 the world...” He loved the world, not just Jewish people, nor just Christians to be saved... but 13 anyone who hears the gospel and believes in Jesus as the Savior.

14 My friends, in the final universal climax towards the end of this world and before the coming of 15 our Lord himself, the verses in Isaiah give us a glimpse of the glory of God’s temple. Of course, 16 God’s temple means the Church of God. God has a vision for a final worship before the coming 17 of Jesus.

18 Who are the Children of Ishmael today?

19 Isaiah 60:7 “All the flocks of Kedar shall be gathered together to you, The rams of 20 Nebaioth shall minister to you; They shall ascend with acceptance on My altar, And I
21 will glorify the house of My glory”

22 It is clear that when the Children of Ishmael will come in the House of God, then God will 23 glorify His Church. When the Church begins to do this ministry to the descendants of Ishmael, 24 God will be happy, and He will bless His church and His work will be finished.

25 Will you play an essential part in this ministry to the people of Ishmael?

26 Amen!

27 Prayer:

28 Our dear loving God, We are thankful that you are a loving God. We are thankful that you love people
29 from the East and the West. We are thankful that you love the whole world. In this prophecy in Isaiah 30 60:7 we can clearly see that Children of Ishmael will come. Since they did not yet come in big numbers,
31 we believe this verse will be fulfilled in the future but before the Second Coming of Jesus. As we can see 32 that the world is coming to a final climax, we are not far from this being fulfilled. Help us to be willing to

1 usher them in your house, and may you bless your house and may your work be accomplished. In Your 2 Name we pray, Amen.

3 Discussion Questions:

4 1. How does the prophecy in Isaiah 60:6-7 highlight God's inclusive plan of salvation for all people,
5 including the descendants of Ishmael? Reflect on the significance of the "Children of the East" in 6 God's universal mission and how this impacts our outreach efforts today.

7 2. What lessons can we learn from the cooperation of the Ishmaelites and Midianites in preserving
8 God's plan, as seen in the stories of Joseph and Moses? How can these examples inspire modern-9 day unity among different groups in fulfilling God's mission?

10 3. In what practical ways can the church today reach out to the descendants of Ishmael (or Muslim 11 populations) to fulfill this prophecy? What barriers need to be overcome, and what role does 12 understanding and respect play in this mission?

2 A Community Transformed

3 Dr. Brendan Prattt

4 Focus: Secular Population

5 Main Text: Romans 12:1-2

6 I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that you present your bodies a living
7 sacrifice, holy, acceptable to God, which is your reasonable service. And do not be conformed to 8 this world, but be transformed by the renewing of your mind, that you may prove what is that 9 good and acceptable and perfect will of God.

10 Introduction

11 What are you chasing? What would a ‘successful’ life look like for you?

12 In secular consumer culture, the goal is happiness. A more meaningful life is just a purchase away. You
13 would be so much happier if you had the updated model. Consumerism is an endless quest for more. “I 14 will be happy when...”

15 In this reading we are going to explore some of the challenges of secular consumer culture.
16 More importantly, we will see how counter-cultural biblical community is the answer to the 17 individualized, superficial lives consumer culture is trying to sell us.

18 The Culture we Live In

19 Paul writes in Romans that we are not to ‘conformed to the pattern of this world.’ In secular 20 culture that pattern is shaped around consumerism.

21 If you have access to the internet, have a smartphone, or have a television, then each day, you
22 will see over 3,000 advertisements that say you need more of what you already have or you need 23 something different.

24 Secular Consumer culture tells us what to desire, love and have hope in. Consumerism is not so 25 much about how much we have but more about where we put our hopes and desires.

26 Consumerism shapes our sense of identity and personality.

27 Consumerism Destroys Community

1 Where a culture scores high on consumer measurements, it also scores high on loneliness and 2 dysfunction. Relationships with God, family, neighbors, and friends takes time, and in consumer culture,
3 where time equals money, relationships are sacrificed to the illusion of ‘happiness.’

4 Secular consumer culture is based on the worship of the individual; it focuses on meeting the 5 ‘needs’ of the individual and undermines the ‘one another’ of scripture and relational
6 community. We can even start treating God and the church as products to be consumed. Church
7 becomes a service I watch rather than a community to be involved in. The main measurement
8 becomes “Did I like it or not?” The Bible becomes a book of consumable suggestions rather than 9 a big story of God’s love for humanity. God becomes a cosmic prosperity vending machine to 10 provide our wants.

11 In our secular consumer culture, consumerism takes worship away from God and puts it on 12 products, celebrities, and ourselves. In consumerism, Christianity becomes just another 13 consumer choice, another lifestyle option.

14 In Romans 12, Paul wasn’t writing about secular consumerism, but he was talking about how the 15 dominant values of the empire have a way of molding who we are. Consumerism is just a 16 modern institutionalized expression of the same selfishness that has always been the problem. As 17 Christians, we are called to live with different hopes and desires and remember that we are 18 shaped for a greater purpose. We are called to be ‘living sacrifices’ who focus on worshipping, 19 serving, sharing, connecting, and growing as disciples over focusing on ourselves.

20 Jesus spoke often about the challenge of consumerism. Sure, there weren’t all the 21 advertisements, brands, cosmetics and fashion magazines but He did explain in Luke 12 how 22 things have a way of taking hold of our hearts and becoming our master. He did talk about how 23 we can so easily give our heart to the wrong grid, define ourselves by our ‘treasure’ and end up 24 serving money.

25 Transformed versus Conformed

26 Paul reminds us in Romans 12 that instead of being ‘conformed’ we should be ‘transformed’ by 27 the renewing of our minds. What does it look like to be transformed over conformed.
28 Conformed is about a different way of being community.

29 Most responses that seek to address consumerism include a focus on education, reducing 30 consumption, caring for the environment and serving. While these responses are excellent, 31 addressing the heart of consumerism needs to go beyond education and product choices. The 32 more significant response is being the ‘living sacrifice’.

33 The word translated transformed in Romans 12:2 is defined as changed, transfigured,
34 transformed. It is like watching a caterpillar transform into a butterfly. That beautiful butterfly 35 does not look like the caterpillar it once was. The transformation is complete and dramatic.

1 Being transformed is about focusing on Jesus. It requires complete obedience to God. It is then
2 applying those teachings in counter-consumer communities that give a better hope, desire,
3 freedom, and identity.

4 The Sabbath and Transformed Community

5 Is there a message of Hope and transformation we can take to these communities? Do we already hope for 6 a solution to a culture of consumerism? People in cultures that are always “on the go” might benefit from 7 slowing down. Maybe a whole day each week to connect with God and each other. Or even a whole day
8 each week to take a break from shopping and the usual jobs?

9 The celebration of a relational God, and the resistance to consumerism can be embodied in the Sabbath.
10 The Sabbath stands as a mark against consumerism. Sabbath is a reminder that time does not equal
11 money. Instead, we can recalibrate around the larger purposes of growing, serving, connecting, sharing, 12 and worshipping. On Sabbath, we take a break from the consumeristic messages of advertising and 13 shopping, and, instead, we celebrate relational community.

14 Imagine the joy of stillness this would bring to a person who is constantly doing. The Sabbath goes against 15 a culture of instant gratification, against a culture of endless production. The Sabbath is all about 16 relational community. On the Sabbath, we disengage from the world to engage in something deeper.

17 Intergenerational Connections, Death and Community

18 Another factor that reduces consumerism is growing intergenerational connections. When children see 19 and interact with elderly people, they become less inclined towards consumer-driven thinking.

20 Death also challenges consumerism. Death is a reminder of what you have given your life to. Death
21 clarifies life... and strips away the superficial allure of consumerism. As Seventh-day Adventists, the 22 resurrection is all about community forever. We don't go to heaven one by one – but at the resurrection as 23 part of a big community.

24 So, where would you find a Sabbath celebrating, community where young and old can be together?

25 What if there were a group of people that had the ingredients to form a countercultural community, one 26 that helps individuals grow beyond consumerism?

27 Daniel in Babylon

28 The biblical story of Daniel highlights how we can live, and even thrive, in Babylon – an empire
29 that symbolizes false worship. Daniel purposed in his heart that he belonged to a more 30 significant empire. He prayed with and sought support from friends with similar values. He re-
31 calibrated around God's purpose for him often (at least formally three times a day). He 32 remembered that everything, including his intellect and ability to interpret dreams, was from God
33 and only God was worthy of ultimate glory.

1 When we start with knowing we exist for God’s glory we see life and the world differently.

2 Transformed Community is the Answer

3 A spiritual community is the opposite of consumerism because consumerism is individualized. Even 4 though brands try to create community, real loving relationships are not easily turned into products.

5 A genuine relational community is the opposite of Consumerism.

6 In Romans 12, Paul describes life as being about:

7 Worshipping [verses 1-3],

8 Serving [verses 3-8],

9 Connecting [verses 9-10],

10 Growing [verses 11-12], and 11 Sharing [verses 14-21].

12 Worshipping, serving, connecting, growing, and sharing is the reasons the church is on the planet. These 13 factors all help shape a community that is counter-cultural while challenging the consumer constructs in 14 culture.

15 This vision can become a reality within a church community, which is the opposite of consumerism.
16 “Relational community is the answer.”

17 Tips for Living Beyond Consumer Culture:

18 • Think about what advertising tells you and why you might choose a particular product.

19 • Lift your focus on people. Intentionally slow down to spend time with family, church 20 community, and neighbors.

21 • Lift your capacity to serve in your home, church, and world.

22 • Be generous with your time, talents, and treasure. Generosity breaks the hold of consumerism.
23 Tithing 10% of your income is a great way to guard against the greed of consumerism and be 24 reminded that your bank account is for God’s glory.

25 • Celebrate Sabbath. The Sabbath stands as a mark against consumerism. Sabbath reminds me
26 time doesn’t equal money. Sabbath reminds me I exist for a bigger purpose of growing, serving,

1 connecting, sharing and worshipping. On Sabbath I take a break from the consumeristic messages
2 of advertising and shopping and, instead, celebrate life at its best.

- 3 • Spend time with older people who know the stories but are often overlooked.
- 4 • Spend time in nature. People who spend time in nature are often less consumer-driven and more 5 likely to value creation.
- 6 • Take some time to recalibrate around what really matters. Make a plan to be transformed by the 7 renewing of your mind rather than being conformed (Romans 12:6). Put in place some heart-
8 building habits that connect you with God.

9 Conclusion

10 Consumerism is so deeply rooted in our culture that it has become part of the air we breathe. The journey
11 from a consumeristic community to a disciple-making community is not easy or obvious, but it is vitally 12 important.

13 As Christians, we are called to give our life to a different story. Rather than conforming, we are 14 to be transformed (Romans 12:1-3). We will consume but with different glasses on. We will 15 find our hope, desire and identity in Jesus and ironically find our life by giving it away – shifting
16 from our agenda to serving God's. We will value people and take time to grow, serve, share, and 17 worship in ways that resist commodification. We will live to God's glory in a world that instead 18 focuses on self. Let us remember that transformation comes through following Christ and 19 resisting the world. This is the starting point of a significant life that matters for now and 20 eternity.

21 Ministry leaders are then about shaping counter-cultural communities that connect with consumers and 22 grow them beyond to find identity and locate hope and desire within the relational richness of God.

23 What are you chasing? Conformed or Transformed?

24 Prayer:

25 Dear Heavenly Father,

26 We come before You, seeking to set our hearts and minds on Your will. Help us to place our hope and 27 desires not in the fleeting promises of consumerism, but in the eternal purpose You have for our lives.
28 Strengthen us as we share Your message in a world shaped by secular values and materialism. When we 29 find ourselves caught in the ways of this world, may we lean on You for guidance and on the community
30 of believers for support. Draw us closer to You and lead us into a life of transformation that reflects Your 31 love and grace.

32 In Jesus' name, Amen.

2 A Tale of Cities

3 Bledi Leno

4 Focus: The Cities

5 Main Text: Revelation 21:2-3

6 "I saw the Holy City, the new Jerusalem, coming down out of heaven from God, prepared as a
7 bride beautifully dressed for her husband. And I heard a loud voice from the throne saying,
8 'Look! God's dwelling place is now among the people, and he will dwell with them. They will 9 be his people, and God himself will be with them and be their God.'"

10 It comes as a surprise to all of us: the Bible is actually an urban book! It is hard for us to appreciate that 11 the world of Moses, David, Daniel, and Jesus was an urban world. But it was—their world was probably 12 more urban than any civilization before it or any after it for the next fifteen hundred years.

13 The world in which the Bible was written was dominated by cities. By 2000 B.C.E., Abraham's city of 14 Ur numbered 250,000. According to Jonah 3:3, ancient Nineveh was so large that it took three days to 15 cross it on foot.

16 At the time of Nebuchadnezzar, Babylon was an amazing city with eleven miles of walls and a water and 17 irrigation system (perhaps even including flush toilets) that was not equaled again until the end of the 18 nineteenth century.

19 In New Testament times, Ephesus had street lighting along its famed Arcadius Street, of which 20 Ammianus wrote, "The brilliancy of the lamps at night often equaled the light of day."

21 Antioch had sixteen miles of colonnaded streets.

22 The Rome of the Apostle Paul's day numbered more than one million people—the first city in human 23 history to exceed that number. Its streets were so crowded that wheeled traffic had to be banned from its 24 center during the day. The rich lived in large, private mansions, and the middle class in sophisticated
25 apartment buildings. But the poor—the great mass of the residents of Rome—lived in 46,000 tenement
26 houses, many eight to ten stories high. The first high-rise apartment buildings were built not in Chicago
27 but in ancient Rome nearly two thousand years ago!

28 We can begin to understand the sheer immensity of the city when we consider Lanciana's list of public 29 works between C.E. 312 and 315:

1 “... 1,790 palaces, 926 baths, 8 commons, 30 parks and gardens, 700 public pools and 500
2 fountains fed by 130 reservoirs, 254 bakehouses, 290 warehouses, 37 gates, 36 marble arches, 2 circuses,
3 2 amphitheaters, 3 theaters, 28 libraries, 4 gladiatorial schools, 5 nautical spectacles for sea fights, 6
4 obelisks, 8 bridges, 19 “water channels,” 3,785 bronze statues and 10,000 carved figure.

5 The biblical people of God were themselves urban people.

6 • David was king of Jerusalem

7 • Isaiah and Jeremiah were both prophets committed to Jerusalem.

8 • Daniel was appointed mayor of the city of Babylon

9 • Nehemiah was a city planner, a community organizer, and governor of Jerusalem.

10 • Paul was Christianity’s premier evangelist to the major cities of the Roman Empire.

11 • John envisioned God’s ultimate intentions for humanity as an indescribable city.

12 • Jesus’ redemptive act of crucifixion could only happen in a city where the political power of 13 Rome and the religious influence of the Jewish priesthood acted in concert to kill the Son of God.

14 • Most of Paul’s letters were written to city churches as primers on how the church can effectively 15 carry on ministry in a city.

16 If the Bible is such an urban book, why do we not see it that way? It is simply because we approach the 17 Bible from an essentially rural theological perspective. When we read the Bible, we think of “country/
18 village” instead of “city.” We see what we read through “rural glasses.”

19 It was not until the twelfth century that European cities began to grow significantly. Even then, they were 20 small in comparison to biblical cities—Paris, France, at 100,000; Florence, Italy, at 45,000; Venice, Italy,
21 at 90,000.²⁰ After Rome’s decline, it would take Europe nearly thirteen hundred years to produce its next 22 city of a million people. That would be London in 1820.

23 The Bible was written in an urban Middle East, but the main theological formulations of the faith of the 24 church developed in rural Europe. Consider the formative theologians of the early, medieval, and 25 Reformation churches: St. Paul, John of Damascus, Augustine, Anselm, Aquinas, Luther, and Calvin.

26 HOW DOES SCRIPTURE VIEW MY CITY?

27 The city is the locus of a great and continuing battle between the God of Israel and the church and the god 28 of the world.

29 Babylon Versus Jerusalem

1 Babylon is used throughout Scripture as a symbol of a city entirely given over to Satan.

2 The city is first introduced in Genesis 11 when humanity decides to build a Tower of Babel (the Plain of 3 Shinar, mentioned in the text as the city of the ziggurat, was later the location of Babylon). God confused
4 their languages because the people declared, “Come, let us build ourselves a city, and a tower whose 5 top is in the heavens; let us make a name for ourselves...” (Genesis 11:4).

6 Babylon is painted in Scripture as a bureaucratic, self-serving, and dehumanizing social system with 7 economics geared to benefit its privileged and exploit its poor, with politics of oppression, and with a
8 religion that ignores covenant with God and deifies power and wealth (Isa. 14:5-21; Jer. 50:2-17; 51:6-10; 9 Dan. 3:1-7; Rev. 17:1-6; 18:2-19, 24). Much of what is dark and evil in Babylon is replicated in cities
10 (even Jerusalem) throughout the biblical story.

11 Jerusalem, by contrast, is seen in its idealized form as the city of God. It, too, is introduced in Genesis 12 14:17-24 in the figure of Melchizedek, king of Salem (Salem is a former name of Jerusalem).

13 Jerusalem is celebrated as city as it was meant to be—a city belonging to God. As a social system, it is 14 called to witness to God’s shalom, “Pray for the peace of Jerusalem...” Psalm 122:6-9, “The Lord builds
15 up Jerusalem; He gathers together the outcasts of Israel.” Psalm 147:2. As an economic entity, it is meant 16 to practice equitable stewardship and a communal and just existence in its politics.

17 Finally, Jerusalem is portrayed as the spiritual center of the world, a model city living in trust and faith
18 under the lordship of God (Isa. 8:18; Mic. 4:1; Deut. 17:14-20).

19 Every city has both Babylon and Jerusalem in it, for every city is the battleground between the god of 20 Babylon (Baal, Satan) and the God of Jerusalem (Yahweh, the Lord) for domination and control.

21 Babylon in Jerusalem

22 Etymology of the word Jerusalem. Biblical scholars such as Millar Burrows have pointed out that the 23 name actually means “foundation of Shalem.”

24 In the very name Jerusalem is expressed the tension of every city. It is Je-rusalem—the city of Yahweh, 25 of God. It is Jeru-salem—the city of Baal (or Satan). Jerusalem is the city of Yahweh. Jerusalem is the 26 city of Baal. It is a city that contains the power and influence of both forces within its walls. The very 27 name of Israel’s primary (and idealized) city expresses the foundational urban message of the Bible.
28 Jerusalem—and every city—is the battleground between God and Satan for domination of its people and 29 their structures.

30 Jerusalem the Bride

31 Ezekiel 16:1-14

32 The most moving glimpse into God’s deep love for the city. God, Ezekiel is telling us, fell in love with 33 Jerusalem!

1 Isaiah 60:1-2, 14-21,

2 “Arise, shine; For your light has come! And the glory of the Lord is risen upon you. ² For behold, the 3 darkness shall cover the earth, And deep darkness the people; But the Lord will arise over you, And His 4 glory will be seen upon you.” (Isaiah 60:1-2).

5 “ Also the sons of those who afflicted you. Shall come bowing to you, And all those who despised you
6 shall fall prostrate at the soles of your feet; And they shall call you The City of the Lord, Zion of the Holy 7 One of Israel. ¹⁵ “Whereas you have been forsaken and hated, So that no one went through you, I will 8 make you an eternal excellence, A joy of many generations.” (Isaiah 60 14-15).

9 God created, loved, preserved, and redeemed the city so that it could be transformed into the city God
10 intends it to be. As that transformed community, the city becomes a lighthouse to the world, the 11 manifestation of God’s handiwork to the nation and the world.

12 Jonah 3:2 “Arise, go to Nineveh, that great city, and preach to it the message that I tell you.”

13 “ But the Lord said, “You have had pity on the plant for which you have not labored, nor made it grow,
14 which ¹⁰came up in a night and perished in a night. ¹¹ And should I not pity Nineveh, that great city, in 15 which are more than one hundred and twenty thousand persons who cannot discern between their right
16 hand and their left—and much livestock?” Jonah 4:10-11

17 Here is God as concerned for a wicked, pagan city as he is for His city, Jerusalem?

18 Cities mattered to God....but do they matter to you?

19 Evil: Individual or Corporate?

20 Evangelical Protestantism tends to center its theology on God’s work of salvation. Particularly in its more
21 popular, non-reflective forms, the evangel has historically been proclaimed in terms of individual 22 salvation—the calling of the sinner to Christ.

23 The danger with such an approach is that those who stress exclusively the individual dimensions of 24 salvation can neither understand the full extent of evil nor appreciate Christ's full salvific work.

25 When we look we see that Scripture presents salvation as both individual and corporate. The biblical 26 writers understood evil this way. Note the broad use of corporate images to describe the saved
27 condition—covenant people, the nation Israel, the people of God, the remnant, the Kingdom of God, the 28 church, the New Jerusalem.

29 The Systems of a City

30 It is widely suggested that the systems that order the life of a city are economic, political, and religious.

1 In his final speech, Moses reminded Israel that he had dreamed a great dream about a new nation, a
2 kingdom living under God. That new society had been carefully constructed and practiced in the desert.
3 But now, Moses told the people in Deuteronomy 6, you are to go into a new land to possess it. It will be a
4 land of pagans who will not accept or even appreciate your way of life; instead, they will oppose it. The 5 new land will be filled with cities of great wealth, which you will appropriate; that wealth may erode your 6 way of life. That new land will bring you much prosperity so that you will think you have made yourself
7 strong rather than perceiving all as a gift from God; that power will undermine your dependence on God.
8 This is what you will face in the new land—people who will oppose, wealth that will erode, power that 9 will undermine your way of life.

10 A Religion of Relationship

11 According to the Bible, Moses in Deuteronomy 6:4-6 proclaims, “Hear, O Israel: The Lord our God,
12 the Lord is one! You shall love the Lord your God with all your heart, with all your soul, and with all 13 your strength. “And these words which I command you today shall be in your heart.” The foundation for 14 the building of a nation or of a city, the author of Deuteronomy tells us, is a relationship with God.

15 A Politics of Justice

16 These commandments that I give you today are to be upon your hearts. Impress them on your children.
17 Talk about them when you sit at home and when you walk along the road, when you lie down and when 18 you get up. Tie them as symbols on your hands and bind them on your foreheads. Write them on the 19 doorframes of your houses and on your gates (Deut. 6:6-9).

20 When we read the commandments and regulations that follow Moses’ speech in Deuteronomy, we are 21 amazed to discover that they deal mostly with issues of justice. They deal with such concerns as the 22 redistribution of wealth to the poor, protection of the widow, liberation of the enslaved, limitations on the 23 power of rulers, justice in warfare, safeguarding the welfare of wives and unmarried women in 24 adjudication and cases of homicide, and protection of the divorcée, the orphan, the stranger, the sick, the 25 visitor, and the enfeebled. To fulfill the kingdom of God successfully in a pagan city, according to Moses,
26 Israel was to develop and maintain a politics of justice.

27 An Economics of Stewardship

28 When the LORD your God brings you into the land he swore to your fathers, to Abraham, Isaac and 29 Jacob, to give you—a land with large, flourishing cities you did not build, houses filled with all kinds of 30 good things you did not provide, wells you did not dig, and vineyards and olive groves you did not 31 plant—then when you eat and are satisfied, be careful that you do not forget the LORD, who brought you
32 out of Egypt, out of the land of slavery (Deut. 6:10-12).

33 Prayer:

34 Heavenly Father,

1 You are the God of cities and nations, Lord over all creation. As we reflect on Your Word, open our 2 hearts to see the potential for transformation in the places we live. Help us to be instruments of Your 3 justice, stewards of Your resources, and lights in the darkness. May we embody Your love, bringing 4 glimpses of the New Jerusalem into our communities. Guide us to build cities where Your name is 5 honored, and Your peace reigns. We ask this in Jesus' name, Amen.

6 Discussion Questions:

- 7 1. How do you see elements of both Babylon and Jerusalem in the city you live in today?
- 8 2. In what ways can Christians engage with cities to reflect God's shalom and justice?
- 9 3. How does the concept of salvation as both individual and corporate challenge your understanding 10 of faith and community?
- 11 4. What practical steps can you take to contribute to a politics of justice or an economics of 12 stewardship in your local context?
